Questions to be answered are selected for their general interest and helpfulness.

Bean Booster

Q. I just love bean salad. But I have looked and looked in recipe books and cannot find out how to make it. F.G., Maywood.

A. Not knowing which particular kind of bean salad you like, ACTION LINE is sending you several recipes provided by Mildred Flunary, L.P.T. foods editor. You will receive recipes for salads made with kidney beans, navy beans and pork and beans among others. Since you are a bean fan, ACTION LINE thought you might also enjoy receiving the recipes for bundled beans and little bean pizzas.

Benched

Q. A bench at the bus stop in the 3100 block of East Fourth Street was removed last December. It had been there for years, and people with canes and crutches found it very convenient. Can anything be done to get another bench at that location? L.R., Long Beach.

A. ACTION LINE called the Long Beach Public Transportation Co. and learned that the placement of benches is under the jurisdiction of the City of Long Beach. The city's Bureau of Franchises grants permits to advertising companies to install benches at local bus stops for a fee. The companies supply the benches and are responsible for their maintenance. If no company wishes to install a bench, then the city's Public Service Department can put one in. ACTION LINE contacted the Bureau of Franchises and learned that the advertising company which had a permit for the East Fourth Street and Obispo Avenue stop had removed its bench and did not plan to renew its permit. A bureau representative said she would contact other advertising companies to see if they wanted the spot. If not, she will ask the Public Service Department to install one right away.

Claim Check

Q. Please help me find out why I can't collect payments due me from California Blue Shield. In August of 1967, I injured my hand. Blue Shield owes me $78 for medical expenses by my calculations. It has only paid me $24. What's wrong? K.R., Long Beach.

A. A spokesman for Blue Shield checked your file and found that only your doctor had sent in a bill for $82, $58 of which Blue Shield does not pay for. He advised you to get an itemized bill from the hospital and mail it into Blue Shield with a claim form. If you had additional doctors charges beyond the $82, you must get a bill for those and mail it in with a claim form. ACTION LINE will tell you who to contact if you have further problems.

Join It or Drink It?

Q. My husband and I are from Canada and are now making our living in California. Is there a Canadian Club in Southern California? L.F., Long Beach.

A. Yes. The American British Canadian Social Club was started in 1951 and has some 9,000 members in this area. The club sponsors social activities and charter flights to Europe, Asia and Australia. Membership fees are $5 per year per family. For more information, contact William Blackmore, president, at 16122 Nassau Lane in Huntington Beach, Calif. For French-speaking Canadians, there is the French Canadian Club. The club sponsors dances, luau's, and picnics at Maple Leaf Park, and charter flights to Europe, Hawaii, Mexico and Canada. Membership fees are $15 initiation and $16 a year dues for a couple. For further information, contact Gertrude Thomasset, executive administrator, French Canadian Club, 727 W. Seventh St., Los Angeles, Calif. 90017. The Mayflower Club which meets in the San Fernando Valley also has some Canadian members. For more information, contact Eileen Selby, membership chairman, 13429 Tiara St., Van Nuys, Calif.

Application

Q. My husband was awarded non-service connected disability payments by the Veteran's Administration as of Aug. 13, 1968. He died on Nov. 18 without receiving a single payment. Can I now have the benefits for the months before his death awarded to me? E.H., Paramount.

A. Form 534, an application for widows or children to receive benefits of the deceased husband or father, is being sent to you. Although you cannot receive benefits for the month of your husband's death, you will be awarded payments for August, September and October, according to a contact officer for the Veteran's Administration in Los Angeles.

Propose Mideast Summit

France Suggests Big Four Attempt to Solve Crisis

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—France announced Friday it had proposed that France, the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union meet at the U.N., and discuss how to end the Mideast crisis.

A statement to that effect also was issued by the Foreign Ministry in Paris. It indicated the aim of the meeting would be to seek implementation of the U.N. Security Council's formula of November 1967.

A French spokesman here said the proposal was made to the other three powers on Thursday and that the meetings, if all parties agreed, could start sometime between Jan. 25 and Feb. 15.

THE BIG Four powers mentioned in the French proposal are four of the 15-nation Security Council's five permanent members. The fifth, Nationalist China, is not recognized by the Soviet Union.

The Paris statement was worded to avoid any implication that the Big Four would try to impose a solution to the Arab-Israeli dispute. Israel has stated strongly it will have no part of any imposed solution.

The 1967 Security Council resolution called for Israeli withdrawal from Arab lands occupied in the Mideast war of June 5-10, 1967, coupled with Arab recognition of Israel's right to visit. Efforts to get the two sides to agree on implementing the resolution have failed.

Claude Chayet, acting head of the French U.N. delegation, said he had informed Secretary-General U Thant of the proposal and that Thant "seemed, rather pleased to hear that something was being done."

THERE HAVE been reports in recent weeks that the Soviet Union was sounding out the other big powers in a Mideast peace formula. There was no indication that the two developments were connected.

In Washington, the State Department was reserved on the French proposal. Press officer Robert J. McCloskey said for the department that "we will of course study the proposal carefully."

WASHINGTON — President Johnson Friday made peace with the press, teased his family, lamented that he had not been able to end the Vietnam war, and philosophized on problems of race, youth, housing and population.

In one of his longest and most free-wheeling press conferences, Johnson said he was leaving Washington on Monday full of gratitude and without any grudges.

HICKEL IN BALANCE

Senate Units OK 11 of 12 to Cabinet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Senate committees gave clearance Friday to three more of President-elect Nixon's Cabinet appointees. But another panel continued its marathon quizzing Alaska Gov. Walter J. Hickel, chosen to be secretary of the interior.

Friday's actions meant that the road to speedy Senate confirmation on Monday has been opened informally for 11 of the 12 Cabinet posts.

The Finance Committee gave its unanimous approval to David M. Kennedy to be secretary of the treasury, and to Robert Finch, California's lieutenant governor, to become secretary of health, education and welfare.

THE ARMED Services Committee gave similar clearance to Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin who will become secretary of defense. At the same time it old California industrialist David Packard as deputy secretary of defense.

Sen. Albert Gore, acting chairman of the Finance Committee, raised questions Thursday of conflict of interest in the case of Kennedy, a Chicago banker, and Packard, a multi-millionaire electronics manufacturer.

But after Friday's committee session, Gore told newsmen of revisions in Kennedy's proposal to place in trust the stock he holds in the continental Bank of Illinois, which he heads.

Gore said the new arrangement will: —Provide an independent trustee, rather than having the bank serve in that capacity.

—Instruct the trustee to diversify Kennedy's holdings.

—Specify that Kennedy decide, before taking office, whether to exercise options to buy an additional 30,000 shares of Continental stock.

The incoming chairman of the Armed Services Committee, Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., told reporters the group approved Packard's plan to put his $300 million in

Picket UC Regents on S.F. State

BERKELEY (UPI) — Hundreds of student dissidents picketed a University of California regents meeting Friday to express their sympathy with striking students at strife-torn San Francisco State College.

The 300 demonstrators, who were kept from the building where the regents met by university police, paraded in an orderly fashion. They carried signs which said "Solidarity with S.F. State Strike" and "Mickey Mouse Regents Go Home."

The demonstrators pounded on the locked doors of the building and a glass pane in one door was kicked in, but there was no serious violence.

PETER STONE, one of the organizers of the protest and a member of the radical student union, said it was important to show our solidarity with the strike at San Francisco State.

"This is directed specifically at 'Bayonet' Reagan,

Pair Shot Down in Militant Meet

By WALT MURRAY
Staff Writer

Two Black Panther leaders lay dead on a lunchroom floor Friday after a shooting at the University of California at Los Angeles in Westwood.

Lt. Robert Madlock, detective commander of the University Division of the L.A. Police Department, said none of the 12 persons questioned actually saw the shooting.

"We hope to talk to all 150 persons who were in the meeting," Lt. Madlock said. "So far we really don't know what happened. When the shooting started, everyone exited in every manner."

Attending the meeting were members of the Black Students Union, the Black Panthers, US and nonaffiliated black students, police said.

DETECTIVES said they were checking a report from an unidentified student that men ran past him outside the building just after the shootings. There were unconfirmed reports that at least one man jumped out a window, detectives said.

Mark Goodman, city editor of the campus Daily Bruin, said college newspaper editors had heard that there would be trouble but no one would talk to us about it.

All 150 persons at the meeting were black, most of them students, police said. Campbell Hall houses offices of both the Black Students Union and the United Mexican American Students.

THERE WERE rallies at UCLA this week in support of black student groups — Huggins spoke at one rally Thursday — but there hadn't been trouble before.

UCLA has so far escaped much of the racial turmoil that has become common on state college campuses.

Huggins was shot once in the back and Carter once in the chest, according to Boyd Lynn, campus police chief. Three shots were heard. Both victims

Freed PW Dies After Operation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Army Spec. 4 James W. Brigham, one of three American prisoners released by the Viet Cong on New Year's Day, died Friday in Walter Reed General Hospital a week after undergoing brain surgery, the Army announced.

Spokesmen said Brigham, 21, of Ocala, Fla., died apparently without recovering from unconsciousness into which he lapsed following the brain surgery at the Army hospital Jan. 9.

AFTER he entered Walter Reed, the Army disclosed that Brigham had received a serious head wound before his capture by the Communists and had been operated on by the Viet Cong while a prisoner in Vietnam.

Brigham was released by the Viet Cong to American personnel New Year's Day along with Spec. 4 Thomas N. Jones, 21, Lynnville, Ind., and PFC Donald G. Smith, 21, of Akron, Pa.

Brigham entered Walter Reed Jan. 4 for examination of his head injury after he told Army doctors he had an impairment of his sight. His mother, Mrs. Mary L. Brigham of Ocala, flew to Washington to be with him.

Spokesmen said military doctors discovered that an abscess had developed in his brain.

Vietnam Troop Cut Proposed

BULLETIN

SAIGON, Saturday (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu announced today his military chief of staff and Gen. Creighton W. Abrams the U.S. Commander in Vietnam, are drafting a proposal for the withdrawal of some American troops this year.

Thieu said detailed plans will first have to be developed by the military staffs of the United States and South Vietnam before a specific timetable can be determined. There was no indication of U.S. troop numbers involved.

Captured Red Mine Explodes, Kills Yank

Combined News Services

SAIGON Saturday — A captured Communist mine exploded Friday night as a U.S. demolitions expert was trying to disarm it in a compound near Saigon. One American was killed and 11 others injured. Military spokesmen said South Vietnamese troops had taken the 440-pound mine after ambushing and slaying five Viet Cong who were carrying it to a channel 15 miles south of Saigon. The mine was of the underwater type used against ships. The accident occurred at a military compound at Nha Be, where a Navy demolitions expert was attempting to remove the mine's fuse. Military spokesmen did not say whether the demolitions man was the victim.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

WASHINGTON—The State Department said Friday it had been advised by Hanoi that Christmas packages mailed to American prisoners in North Vietnam arrived and were distributed to the men. Such mail apparently never reached the prisoners in past years. Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey said the U.S. was "pleased to get this word." He said there were no further details. The North Vietnamese delegation to the Paris talks passed the word to U.S. representatives. The number of American prisoners held by North Vietnam is believed to be more than 500.

PRAGUE — A young political protestor who attempted to burn himself to death left a note vowing that a second student would become a human torch next Tuesday unless press censorship and the Soviet occupation newspaper are ended, it was disclosed Friday night. The intended suicide note of student Jan Palach, 21, called upon the entire nation to rise up in a massive general strike to prevent still a third student from setting himself aflame. Palach, in grave condition said he set himself aflame Thursday because Czechoslovakia "appears on the brink of hopelessness."

8,500 Police Try to Oust Tokyo Radicals

TOKYO Saturday — Riot police raided the campus of Tokyo University by land and air early today in an effort to dislodge 300 radical students barricaded in 10 of its buildings since last summer. While approximately 8,500 police marched on the campus, three police helicopters fired tear-gas shells at the windows where the students maintained their stronghold. Ground police dropped tear gas shells behind the high barricades of classroom furniture before tearing them down. The radicals, whose occupation of the buildings caused the university to close a year ago, want a greater voice in the administration of the university.

HONG KONG Saturday — The Hong Kong Star said today that Chinese Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung is ill and that other Communist leaders have selected a 14-man body to rule in case of his death. Mao is 75. Mao, the Star said, became ill in Hangchow after going there to escape Peking's bitter cold. The Star reported that one of Mao's personal physicians was flown from Peking to Hangchow to attend him and that this had prompted rumors that the party chief was dead.

UMUAHIA — Children between 12 and 17 years old are to be drafted into a land Army to grow food to avert the starvation now threatening the break-away state, Biafra's military leader Col. Odumegwu Ojukwu announced Friday. The children "will mount the assault against the challenge of starvation regarded by our enemy as a legitimate tool of war," he told a seminar on emergency food production. "Having failed to destroy us by bullets and subversion, the enemy is now banking on starving us out," Ojukwu said. "But we will tackle and overcome this challenge easily."

Credit Cards in U.S. Total 250,000,000

SAN FRANCISCO — The year of 1968 witnessed a virtual explosion in the credit card industry that has its own experts using words like "dramatic" and "revolution." A good idea of what happened comes from figures released Friday by Bank of America, the largest credit card dealer. People using BankAmericard in 1968 jumped to 16.75 million, an increase of 10.75 million persons over 1967. That is an increase of 179.2 per cent, or about 895,000 per month. Sales soared from $458.9 million in 1967 to $814.5 million last year, an increase of 77.5 per cent. The number of merchants who accept BankAmericard went from 155,000 to 397,000. A rough estimate of total number of credit cards in circulation, officials said, is at least 250,000,000—more than enough for every man, woman and child in America.

3 Killed, 47 Hurt as Trains Collide

KANKAKEE—Three persons were killed and 47 other injured Friday when an Illinois Central Railroad passenger train, roaring through thick fog at about 55 miles an hour, rammed head-on into a freight train. The dead included the passenger train engineer, William J. Coffey, 48, Maltson, Ill., and his fireman, Eugene L. Lee, 33, Chicago. More than 12 hours after the crash authorities recovered parts of a body believed to be that of R. W. Dinkelman, the freight train engineer, who was missing. A spokesman said the freight apparently ran a signal light and pulled into the path of the southbound passenger train.

Judge Wants to Get Ray Trial Going

MEMPHIS—A criminal court judge said Friday he wants the trial of James Earl Ray to start March 3, "if humanly possible," and directed a public defender to represent Ray if ailing attorney Percy Foreman is unable to do so. Criminal Court Judge W. Preston Battle opened a hearing, held to determine the defense's readiness for trial, but saying he had been advised by telegram from Houston that Foreman, Ray's chief counsel, was ill with pneumonia. Ray is charged with the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. County public defender Hugh Stanton Sr. was ordered by Battle to "prepare this case in such a manner that if it becomes necessary you could take full charge." He then ordered Stanton to report again on Feb. 14 whether the defense would be able to meet the March 3 deadline.

Ailing Negro Gets White Man's Heart

CHICAGO — A 49-year-old Negro former Chicago bus driver, out of work for 12 years because of heart disease, began a new life Friday with the heart of a 38-year-old white man beating in his chest. Benjamin Evans received the heart in a four-hour transplant operation at the Veterans Administration Hospital in suburban Hines. "He is doing well," said Dr. Robert Fruin, chief of staff at Hines. "His heart is beating normally on its own." The name of the donor was not immediately released, but Fruin said that before lapsing into a coma the man requested that any usable organs be transplanted.

'... ON THE ROCKS'

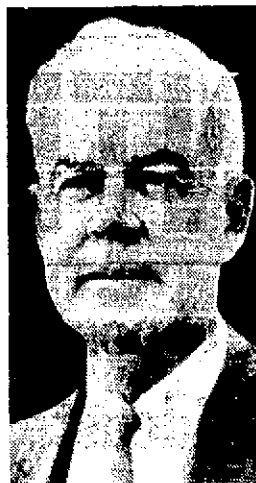

MIAMI — The 455 refugees from the British cruise ship Carmania, aground for four days in the Bahama Islands, arrived here Friday joking about a new cocktail christened "Carmania on the rocks" and almost all immediately signed up for a new cruise. Most everyone that stepped off the Italian cruise ship Flavia, to which they transferred from the Carmania in lifeboats, agreed the crew of the Carmania was not at fault for running onto the reef. Passengers wisecracked that their new cocktail "Carmania on the rocks" contains "whatever you like best while aground at sea."

Mavis Smith, Beatles' spokesman, assured inquirers: "The concert will still happen, probably in the next few weeks. The Beatles fixed the Jan. 18 date themselves, and they were not selling tickets but having an invited audience, so they were quite at liberty to postpone the concert to suit themselves."

Senate Unit Plans Gas Tax Strategy

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A special Senate advisory committee planned strategy Friday for getting public and legislative approval of a 2-cent-per-gallon increase in the state gasoline tax.

The 16-member advisory committee, representing most of the highway interests agreed the present seven-cent-per-gallon tax should be increased although no formal vote was taken at the unpublished meeting.

Funds from the gasoline tax are used to finance highway construction.

Oil Strike Talks in Breakdown

Negotiations between the nation's 60,000 striking Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers and the oil industry halted Friday afternoon with no indication that either side is willing to yield on the money package.

"We plan to resume negotiations on Monday," said a representative for Atlantic Richfield, "but we must recognize that we have made little progress so far."

A representative of OCAW was equally pessimistic.

"We accomplished absolutely nothing," he said. "I doesn't look too good."

THE UNION official said that the two companies showing the most activity in negotiations Friday were Gulf and Richfield. But, he added, both were far from an agreement that would be accepted by the union.

"Richfield is 12 cents below and Gulf is 10 cents below," he said. He indicated OCAW had established the Union Oil Company contract — accepted more than a week ago — as the minimum for settlement with any of the other oil companies.

Two other West Coast firms — Powerline and Golden Eagle — have both settled at figures which exceed the Union settlement.

In Denver, OCAW president A. F. Gropiron said it was considered a potentially dangerous situation in that no other major oil firm had followed the Union in example.

"WE ARE now prepared to take on a long strike," Gropiron said.

Federal mediators have been working quietly behind the scenes since before the strike became official, attempting to effect settlements between the oil companies and the union.

Board Votes Monday on School Cuts

The Los Angeles Board of Education will vote Monday on a proposed outback of some $400,000 made by Superintendent Jack P. Crowther.

Crowther said the slash in expenditures was made necessary by a decrease in the amount of federal funds for the city schools' compensatory education program.

Crowther told the board that another $400,000 cut-back might also be necessary if state funds cannot be obtained for certain programs at the elementary school level.

CHP WILL BORROW STEAM-ENGINE CAR

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — The California Highway Patrol will not be buying any steam-powered automobiles but will be borrowing one.

Industrialist William P. Lear said Friday plans he had for installing steam engines in California Highway Patrol vehicles has fallen through.

"We just couldn't accept the conditions under which they wanted to award the contract," Lear said.

However, Lear engineers will install a steam engine in a car and lend it to the patrol "so they can see what it can do."

Lear, the inventor of the Lear jet, has leased about 2,100 acres six miles north of here, where he has started an industrial complex.

He announced he will have a steam-powered auto in operation for public view around March 1.

"It's (coming along) beautifully, just beautifully," Lear said. "We have 150 people on the payroll on this project and we are investing about $500,000 a month."

State Bill May Curb Dropouts

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation is being proposed which would help cope with the high school dropout problem and to give state colleges $1.5 million to meet expanded enrollment this spring.

A group of 15 assemblymen, including one Republican, announced Friday they will introduce a bill Monday to grant the money to the 18-campus State College system, which expects enrollment this spring to rise by 4,650 students.

IN A JOINT statement, three Democratic sponsors of the bill said the state colleges, because of money problems, "have been forced to turn away qualified students for the first time in their history."

The three — Assemblymen Alan Sieroty of Beverly Hills, John Vasconcellos of San Jose and John Dunlap of Napa — said the added $1.5 million had been suggested by college officials at a committee hearing last November.

The measure, given urgency status, would require a two-thirds vote of both houses for passage, and the legislature would have to receive Gov. Reagan's consent to take it up before the state budget. Republican Assemblyman Peter Wilson of San Diego has proposed a similar measure, but it would appropriate only $575,000.

ONE OF the sponsors of the new bill, Assemblymen Walter Karabian, D-Monterey Park, also has called for creation of an "education corps" to help solve the problem of high school dropouts.

Karabian's plan would give school districts money to hire college students with ethnic, cultural or racial backgrounds similar to those in high schools whose dropout rates are high.

The college youths would spend their summers helping borderline high school students in an effort to keep them in school.

GUARDS CONVERGE Aged Man Prays and Sobs at Trial

Courtroom security in the trial of accused assassin Sirhan Bishara Sirhan which has never relaxed, snapped to full alert status Friday when one of the few spectators allowed in the courtroom began sobbing and praying quietly.

Although not even the newsmen seated nearby noticed, security officers, scattered throughout the room and standing along the walls, did.

ONE BY ONE, almost by osmosis, the entire security force sensed the potential problem. Unnoticed, a group of burly plainclothesmen stationed themselves close by. The man's prayers weren't even interrupted, except momentarily when one kind-faced gentleman asked him to "please move over one seat" — he had been sitting in an aisle seat.

But, before the praying man said "amen," plainclothesmen officers were seated on both sides and in front of him — with their hands folded in their laps.

When court recessed, the spectator, an elderly man wearing a rumpled blue suit, seemed to shadow Sirhan's mother and brother, who conversed together in the hallway.

Security men — recognized by their red "spectator" passes, small gold lapel pins and football-tackle physiques — spotted themselves tightly around the family. The mother and her son, unaware of any problem, continued to talk.

Shipping Lines Quit Cargo Hassle

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — American President Lines and Castle & Cooke, Inc., Friday quit their battle with Matson Navigation Co. in an attempt to establish a second major steamship cargo service from the Pacific Coast to Hawaii.

The new service, called Hawaiian Lines and announced in February 1966, would have been a direct line in competition with Matson.

It also would have competed with States Steamship Co., which makes a limited number of stops in Hawaii, and with some barge operators.

APL and Castle & Cooke, which would have jointly owned Hawaiian, won approval for their plan late last year from the Federal Maritime Commission.

But Matson was asking the secretary of commerce and threatening to take its case to the courts. Matson contended no need existed for a second direct line.

In a joint statement, Ralph K. Davies, board chairman of APL, and Malcolm MacNaughton, president of Castle & Cooke, expressed regret and blamed delays caused to overrule the commission by the regulatory process for abandonment of the project.

In October, Seatrain lines — which as an unsubsidized carrier does not require governmental approval for a new service — announced plans to begin a weekly containerized freight service between California and Honolulu beginning in mid-1969.

Sirhan Jury Accepted in Prosecution Surprise

By MARY NEISWENDER
Staff Writer

In a surprise move, the prosecution in the murder trial of accused assassin Sirhan Bishara Sirhan Friday agreed to accept the six-man, six-woman jury tentatively seated to hear the case.

The acceptance, which Judge Herbert V. Walker described as a "shock" to the defense, came after the defense and prosecution each had exercised one pre-emptory challenge. They are entitled to 20 each.

It was the second surprise of the day. Judge Walker, reversing an earlier decision, expelled from the jury a woman who said she opposed the death penalty.

Citing the Vevelman case, handed down only two weeks ago by the State Supreme Court, Judge Walker said he could not disallow the challenge against Mrs. Alvina Alvidrez. The case points out a jury member unequivocally opposed to the death penalty may be excused for cause.

ON THE HEELS of this victory, Chief Deputy Dist. Attn. Lynn Compton, in his speedy approval of the jury, apparently was trying for another victory — that of quickening the pace of the trial. Delays and legal maneuvering have kept the trial in slow motion.

Compton, who heads the three-man prosecuting team, had just completed questioning, and passing excluding for cause, Miss Doris Jacoby, a retired instructor with the United States Armed Forces Institute, when he accepted the jury.

Chief Defense Counsel Grant Cooper, obviously surprised at the move, asked for an adjournment until Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. so the defense could "weigh the issue of accepting" those seated.

In granting the adjournment, Judge Walker smilingly said he understood the disclosure was "something of a shock."

OUTSIDE the courtroom, however, Compton admitted to newsmen he had an "ace in the hole." One of the jurors, Miss Helen L. Woodworth, a retired Inglewood legal secretary, has not been passed for cause by the prosecution, but was seated "Conditionally" by Judge Walker when she said she had to check with her doctor to see if she could serve.

Miss Woodworth replaced Mrs. Alvidrez in the jury box.

Compton claims he can exercise his pre-emptory challenge on Miss Woodworth, and thereby open up the rest of the jurors to pre-emptory challenges.

Defense attorneys contended that should they decide to accept the jury, the prosecution has the right to challenge only Miss Woodworth, one of the others. Should the defense exercise its pre-emptory challenges, however, it also opens the way for the prosecution to challenge the entire jury.

It was a legal snarl that defense and prosecution attorneys were arguing as they headed out the door toward a weekend recess after five long days in court.

Cooper, in asking the recess until Tuesday, said he has to be in Federal Court Monday to argue motions for a new trial in the Friars Club card-cheating case. He defended Las Vegas investor Maurice Friedman, one of five defendants convicted of conspiracy in the case.

BANK ROBBED TWO TIMES IN ONE DAY

The bank robbery business was profitable Friday in North Hollywood.

One bank was robbed twice within five hours and another just a short distance away also was held up.

Only a short time after detectives had left the United California Bank, a young man strolled to the drive-in window and displayed two simulated hand-grenades.

When he fled he had $13,800 from the bank, which had been robbed of $1,366 about noon by a similar-appearing man with a gun.

Another gunman held up Columbia Federal Savings and Loan Corp. and scooped up $1,324.

Romans on Strike

ROME (UPI) — Rome bus, streetcar and subway workers walked out for 4½ hours Friday in their third strike in four weeks. The transportation workers are asking raises totaling $3.34 million — three times what the municipal company has offered to pay.

Lodge Says He's 'No Hard Liner,' Not Soft Either

News York Times Service

WASHINGTON — Henry Cabot Lodge, chosen to be the Nixon Administration's chief Vietnam negotiator, denied Friday that he was a hard-liner and pledged to do "everything I can" to make the Paris peace talks successful.

Lodge's selection by President-elect Nixon on Jan. 6 brought a sharp reaction from some Communist countries and criticism from liberals in this country that his "Hawkish" views might retard progress at the negotiations.

The two-time former ambassador to Saigon was asked about this after a closed door hearing before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee yesterday.

"I don't think I'm a hard-liner," he told newsmen.

"You can't be a hard-liner if you've always said a military solution is not possible. This is what I've said since I've been associated with the Vietnam question."

"I'm not a hard-liner," the 66-year-old veteran diplomat went on. "I'm not a soft-liner. I try to be a realist."

COMMITTEE members quoted Lodge, who has been serving as Ambassador to West Germany, as saying with qualifications that it would be "entirely possible" to begin withdrawing American troops from Vietnam this year.

Lodge reportedly stressed this was a personal opinion, offered before he had had any policy discussions with President-elect Nixon or Secretary of State-designate William P. Rogers.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., quoted Lodge as saying "it would be entirely possible this year" to begin withdrawing American troops but said that "he made no commitments."

Under questioning, Aiken said Lodge meant a withdrawal would be possible if the Paris talks proceeded well.

Sen. John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., told reporters that he thought Lodge had made troop withdrawals conditional upon obtaining agreement on a ceasefire first. Aiken said he did not recall any such condition.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas, the committee chairman, asserted that a ceasefire was "the logical first step" for the negotiations in Paris to consider. "As soon as you get a ceasefire, people's emotions begin to cool off," he said. "Then I think people are more reasonable about other steps."

THE ARKANSAS Democrat said the bulk of the closed door hearing centered in Lodge's attitudes and views rather than on specific policy issues. Fulbright, one of the Johnson Administration's sharpest critics on Vietnam, said he was "generally satisfied" with Lodge's attitude.

"I think his views about the necessity of these talks and a solution were quite persuasive," he said. Lodge, he added, seemed "genuinely committed to finding a solution."

As part of the Nixon Administration's fact-finding process, Secretary of Defense-designate Melvin R. Laird is scheduled to go to South Vietnam about 10 days after Nixon's inauguration.

Lodge said he will confer here with Ambassador-at-Large W. Averell Harriman who has served as head of the Johnson Administration's negotiating team since May. Harriman is due back in Washington Sunday.

A few days after the inauguration, Lodge is scheduled to go to Paris. In the meantime, Cyrus R. Vance, alternate leader of the Johnson Administration's negotiating team, will represent the United States at the opening sessions of the expanded Vietnam talks.

Hewlett-Packard stock into a trust fund, the proceeds of which would go to charity.

Stennis said his committee concluded this arrangement would "fully protect the public interest."

But while his colleagues enjoyed smooth sailing through the committees controlled by Democrats, Hickel was asked to explain what a senator called exorbitant profits Hickel reportedly made in a gas-distribution firm while governor.

Hickel replied that he knew nothing that he might have done as governor to help raise the value of the gas company stock which he had placed in trust when he became governor.

The governor, undergoing his third day of close questioning before the Senate Interior Committee, satisfied one member when he said that as secretary he would not rescind an existing Interior Department order blocking distribution of Alaska-owned land under the statehood act.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., the committee chairman, raised the question about the order issued by Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall freezing the distribution until Congress can settle claims filed by Eskimos and other Alaska natives.

Although Alaska has brought court action to set aside the order, Hickel said that as secretary he would keep it in force.

JACKSON said that satisfied him on this point.

While Hickel remained under close scrutiny, Nixon's choice to be postmaster general enjoyed smooth sailing before the Senate Post Office Committee.

Winton M. Blount, a Montgomery, Ala., construction millionaire, told the senators he favors true collective bargaining by government employees but feels they should not strike.

Chairman Gale McGee, D-Wyo., said "I anticipate no difficulties whatsoever" when Blount's nomination is taken up formally by the committee on Monday.

All this week's committee hearings and decisions on Nixon's Cabinet selections are on an informal basis because their nominations cannot be placed officially before the committee until Nixon is inaugurated on Monday. But they are ready to act swiftly after that and Senate confirmation of most of the appointees is expected later that day.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republicans spent about $21 million electing Richard M. Nixon to the White House.

GOP Treasurer J. William Middendorf II, said that party coffers seemed "in good shape," although there still were some bills outstanding.

He made his report as the Republican National Committee held its first meeting since the 1968 election — just three days before Nixon's inauguration.

Later in the day Maurice Stans, the GOP Finance Committee chairman who is resigning to become commerce secretary, told the committee, "we have balanced the budget for the campaign." His estimate was that, taking into account some expenditures Middendorf did not consider, the overall cost of the presidential campaign would come to nearly $24 million.

National Chairman Ray C. Bliss — whose four-year tenure has coincided with a strong upswing in GOP fortunes — gave the committee a glowing forecast of the party's future. But he cautioned that intelligence and careful planning are essential for these gains.

Election Reforms in Congress Hopper

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation designed to close loopholes in federal election laws and to require more realistic accounting of campaign costs was submitted to Congress Friday by Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark.

It was sent to the speaker of the House with the endorsement of the Johnson administration. Major provisions include:

Any committee spending or receiving more than $1,000 a year in support of a candidate for federal office would be required to report its financial transactions. Existing law requires reports only from committees operating in more than one state.

No individual could contribute more than $5,000 to any candidate or committees supporting the candidate. Existing law limits to $5,000 the total contribution to a single committee but does not prohibit additional donations to other committees supporting the same candidate.

The $3-million limit on receipts and spending by a political committee would be repealed, but completed reports would be required from the committees.

Individuals who receive or spend more than $100 a year to support a candidate would be required to file financial reports.

Committees or groups financing national convention campaigns would be required to file public financial reports.

A bipartisan commission appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate would administer the proposed law and make annual public reports.

DOG GUARD CHANGES AT WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — America is getting a new set of top dogs on inauguration day.

Moving into the White House with the Nixons are Pasha, a Yorkshire terrier, and Vicky, a miniature French poodle.

Moving out of the White House with the Johnsons are Yuki, a mongrel, and Blanco, a white collie. Blanco, in fact, is getting a new owner. The Johnsons have given him to an unnamed family "with lots of acreage" for him to frolic in somewhere in Kentucky.

The Soviet attitude as reflected by this source suggested that Moscow has sustained a lively interest in seeing the talks move on toward some positive result.

American sources, asked about this, declined to comment on it, but did not dispel the impression that the Russians had been actively involved in the solution of the difficult procedural question over the shape of the conference table and seating arrangements.

Harriman, speaking informally, expressed anew his satisfaction at the turn of events and indicated that the remaining procedural obstacles were not expected by the Americans to pose too many difficulties.

Nixon Capital Agenda Full, Starting Sunday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Nixon will arrive in the nation's capital Sunday, attend a special concert and spend his last night as a private citizen in a hotel three blocks from the White House.

Nixon's temporary headquarters here, announcing Friday the next president's inaugural weekend schedule, said Nixon will begin Inauguration Day Monday, with a prayer service.

The schedule also calls for a private 40-minute talk with President Johnson in the White House before he and Nixon leave for the Capitol where the ceremonial transition of power will take place.

Nixon will have a private luncheon in the Capitol before returning to the White House as president.

He and Mrs. Nixon will tour all six inaugural balls Monday night, beginning at the Smithsonian Institution where the foreign diplomatic corps will await their entrance.

The new First Lady will fly from New York to Washington Saturday for a distinguished women's reception at the National Gallery of Art but will fly back the same night.

Mr. and Mrs. David Eisenhower and the Nixons' other daughter, Tricia, accompanying Mrs. Nixon here on the flight, will remain Saturday night for the Inaugural Gala. Tricia will be escorted by Larry Drown, son of a California family friend.

Nixon is scheduled to arrive in Washington with his wife at 4:30 p.m. Sunday and will attend the inaugural concert at Constitution Hall. He will stay for the inauguration and arrive at the north portico of the White House where he will be met by President Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the man he defeated in last November's election.

The Nixon and Johnson families will have coffee together in the East Room before the procession of America's political elite begins toward the Capitol.

Nixon, after taking the oath, is expected to begin his inaugural address at noon, although the exact schedule for the ceremonies will not be made public until Saturday.

The luncheon in the Capitol will be a private affair for special friends and guests of Nixon. He and the new vice president, Spiro T. Agnew, will motor afterwards to the White House and watch the inaugural parade from the viewing stands mounted on the Pennsylvania Avenue side of its broad lawn.

That evening President and Mrs. Nixon will attend in order the inaugural balls at the Smithsonian Institution, and Shoreham, Sheraton Park, Washington Hilton and Mayflower Hotels before winding up at the celebration at the Statler-Hilton and returning to the White House for the first night as President and First Lady.

After a prayer breakfast Monday at the State Department, Nixon will dress

Scotland Brewery Aids Party

LONDON (AP) — A rare blend of whisky is being shipped by air Saturday to the White House for the reception following Richard Nixon's inauguration as president Monday.

The scotch whisky — 12 stone jars each holding the equivalent of a standard size scotch bottle, 26 23 ounces — was flown here Friday from Inverness, Scotland.

The blend is called "usqueabach," Gaelic for whisky. The name was first registered in 1876 and the blend is now made only to order by William Grigor and Son Ltd. of Inverness for special customers.

AMONG THEM, a spokesman for the firm said, is Prince Stanislaus Radziwill, whose wife Lee is the sister of the former Jacqueline Kennedy.

The jars, to be delivered to the White House a few hours before the inauguration, are embellished with these words:

"Blended and bottled for President Richard Nixon to commemorate his inauguration in Washington as the 37th President of the United States on 20 January 1969."

A spokesman said the special blend, stone jar, and embellishment makes the whisky about $2.40 more a bottle than fine bottled scotch.

'Nixon-Slogan' Girl to Ride Main Float

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — The teen-age girl whose sign gave President-elect Richard M. Nixon the theme for his administration will ride the main float in the inaugural parade in Washington on Monday.

Vicki Lynne Cole, 13, Deshler, Ohio, carried the sign, "Bring Us Together Again," which caught the eye of Nixon as his campaign train stopped in Vicki's home town.

Glen Allen, head of the Ohio International Trade Department, said Vicki would ride the main float in the parade and her family would ride the Ohio float. The 40-foot long Ohio float is designed as a length of railroad track with the observation platform of a campaign train.

Vicki's sister, Brenda, will carry the now famous sign. The side of the Ohio float will read: "Bring Us Together" — It Happened in Ohio.

Soviet Role in Paris Talks Told

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

PARIS (AP) — A highly placed Russian source indicated Friday night that the Soviet Union was instrumental in the breakthrough permitting four-day Vietnam peace talks to get started.

At the same time, with the talks opening today, Ambassador W. Averell

Harriman, the departing chief U.S. negotiator, expressed optimism that procedural obstacles would be dealt with quickly and that the talks soon would be down to the business of seeking a Vietnam settlement.

The Russian source, in an informal conversation, was asked whether Moscow intended to help pushing the talks along to a successful conclusion. "We already have helped you on the table," he replied.

The indication in this was that Moscow had persuaded the North Vietnamese to accept the formula adopted when almost all hope had disappeared that the talks could open before the end of the Johnson administration.

The Soviet attitude as reflected by this source suggested that Moscow has sustained a lively interest in seeing the talks move on toward some positive result.

American sources, asked about this, declined to comment on it, but did not dispel the impression that the Russians had been actively involved in were lying close together, Lynn said.

Lynn, who is working with LAPD in the investigation, said campus police found the bodies at 2:55 p.m., about 10 minutes after the shooting.

"We don't know what distance the shots were fired from. We don't know if outsiders were involved. We don't know if an argument took place," Lynn said.

Police immediately sealed off the building — which contains mostly humanities classrooms and offices — but nearly everyone who attended the meeting had already fled.

handcuffs, but police said he was later released.

Lynn and Madlock called the students they'd interviewed "very cooperative."

Bodies of the victims were removed by coroner's deputies shortly after 6 p.m.

The victims — both UCLA students — were slain in jvy-decked Campbell Hall moments after adjournment of a black students meeting on qualifications for a director of a new Afro-American Studies Center.

Police said they had no named suspects. Although 150 persons were at the meeting, they fled after the gunfire. Twelve persons, still in the building when police arrived, were questioned and released.

SOME BLACK students at the scene speculated the double homicide could have stemmed from a dispute between the Black Panthers and US, another militant black organization.

Killed were Alprentice Carter, 25, assistant minister of defense for the Black Panthers in Los Angeles, and John Jerome Huggins, 22, area captain, who carried identification listing the Black Panther headquarters in south-central Los Angeles as his address.

U.S. Land Due to Be 'Set Aside'

From Our National Bureau

WASHINGTON — Two days before he steps out of office, President Johnson today is expected to proclaim a transfer of five million acres of public lands into a "conservation-recreation land bank."

Johnson hinted at the action at his State of the Union Message when he said more lands would "be set aside before this administration ends."

But, since he made the statement, no elaboration could be obtained from the White House nor the Interior Department.

The Independent, Press-Telegram Washington bureau learned the proclamation will involve transfer of lands in Alaska, Utah and Arizona from the Bureau of Land Management to the National Park Service.

Outgoing Secretary Stewart L. Udall scheduled today at which he is expected to disclose the general location of the land.

Secretary designate Walter Hickel apparently has received some hints—but no official word—of the landmass transfer. One of his allies said he believes part of the land is in the vicinity of Mount McKinley.

THE COMMANDER GETS A FINAL SALUTE

You've Worked for Peace

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Commander-in-Chief Lyndon B. Johnson leaves office Monday with a special salute from his son-in-law, Airman 1.C. Patrick J. Nugent, on behalf of Vietnam war buddies.

"Our men in Vietnam know you have done everything in your power to bring about a peaceful solution to the war," Nugent wrote the President.

In a week of sentimental tributes to a parting President, Johnson cherishes most the special delivery letter from Pat, husband of his daughter, Luci.

"This letter will be my last addressed to you as Commander-in-Chief," wrote Pat. "I consider it both an honor and a privilege to have served under your command and direction. I didn't want to see you vacate the presidency since you are the best we have, but at the same time I respect your decision and I am extremely proud of you."

Pat also told his father-in-law that his C123 cargo plane came under mortar fire at Katun as it was rolling to a halt on the runway.

"As usual I didn't realize we were being fired upon for my primary concern was to offload 56 GIs we had on board," the letter said.

"Thank God no one was hit and the aircraft never received a scratch."

Nugent told the President he had only 88 more days in Vietnam and "as the GIs refer to it 'I'm getting short.'"

He said he spent Christmas with his brother-in-law, Marine Maj. Charles S. Robb, husband of Lynda Bird, and they enjoyed the holiday telephone call from the family — especially from his little son Lyn, who is hooked on telephones.

"Lyn made a strong effort to converse with his daddy," said Pat. "but was one-sided — all on his side."

"Some day I look to him to be president — of AT&T (American Telephone and Telegraph) — that is," said Pat.

fun of some of the "flaps" of his administration. In doing, he even laughed at himself, a rare act by Johnson in public.

For instance, he said that among his "complaints" was that he was misquoted in saying a Peter Hurd portrait of him was ugly. "I thought it was a pretty good likeness," he said. "It lacked one detail — a halo."

On the Far Eastern trip in 1966, Johnson had said that he had an ancestor who fought at the Alamo, and reporters wrote that their research turned up no such ancestor. Johnson said Friday that the Alamo quote was true, but "my ancestor lived at the Alamo Hotel, Eagle Pass, Texas."

And he said he opened his shirt only to show his gall bladder operation scar in 1965 when Sarah McClendon, a Texas news-woman with a strident voice, had demanded: "Mr. President, you've been in office two years. What do you have to show for it?"

Johnson has been making the rounds in Washington this final week in office, jesting with senators, waxing sentimental about Secretary of State Dean Rusk, and showing off his 18-month-old grandson, Lyn, the child of his younger daughter, Luci, and Airman 1. C. Patrick J. Nugent.

He teased his wife and daughter Luci in the speech by saying Mrs. Johnson was opposed to taking the child everywhere. Johnson said, however, he and Luci had outvoted his wife.

He said he had asked Luci to bring Lyn to the State of the Union address because even if the child wouldn't remember the occasion, "I would."

Mrs. Johnson cried that night, not because of emotion, the President said, but because of fear Lyn would drop his baby bottle on the head of Rep. H. R. Gross (R-Iowa).

Gross is a well known congressional watchdog who has annoyed many presidents.

The President said Lyn was not with him today because he was "confined to quarters" at the White House for fooling around with Sen. Everett M. Dirksen's eyeglasses at a Senate reception for Johnson.

He revealed he had considered nominating Arthur J. Goldberg to be chief justice of the United States both before and after the Senate had balked at Associate Justice Abe Fortas for that post. Goldberg had been an associate justice before becoming ambassador to the United Nations.

The President said there was a great deal of unfinished business he was turning over to Richard M. Nixon, and paramount was the Vietnam war.

but also at the regents. It's not just the trustees and Hayakawa that are coming down on the strikers, but the whole California ruling class, of which the regents are a part," Stone said.

Gov. Ronald Reagan, who said recently state colleges would be kept open "at the point of a bayonet" if necessary, is an ex-officio member of both the university regents and the state college trustees. He is a staunch supporter of Dr. S. I. Hayakawa, acting president at San Francisco State.

The student demonstrators exposed a variety of causes—including full disclosure of the regents' investment policies and full credit for a lecture series given by radical revolutionary Tom Hayden.

Although the Friday morning regents' session was closed to the public, Reagan told newsmen he was concerned about "the question of credit for some of the newer courses." He did not elaborate, but it was apparently a reference to the controversy over the Hayden lectures at Berkeley.

Upon his arrival at the meeting, Reagan told newsmen he had "no quarrel" with the establishment of black studies departments at state colleges and universities. But he said militant demands for autonomous control of the departments "just doesn't make sense."

"SOME OF THESE phony dissidents are confusing the issue," the governor said. "They shouldn't have control of a black students program any more than any other part of the curriculum."

"When these militants get out of the way, then I think great progress will be made," Reagan said.

The regents ordered a full investigation into the Hayden lectures. Reagan said after the meeting that the radical spokesman's appearance could "only lead to cheapening of the university diploma" and would "lower" the esteem of the public for the school.

When the governor left the meeting and entered his car he was jeered by the demonstrators outside the building.

Two eggs thrown by the demonstrators hit the governor's limousine.

Strikers Damage San Jose Campus

SAN JOSE (AP) — Striking students and teachers marched through buildings at San Jose State College Friday afternoon, and a group of 40 students split off from the main body of 400 and smashed glass, damaged a sprinkler system and pushed aside students who got in the way.

The eruption on the 19,000-student downtown campus broke out after the striking American Federation of Teachers had held a lunchtime rally.

Shouting, "On strike, close it down," the crowd marched through the patio of the education building, at which point the group of 40 students split off and invaded nearby McQuarrie Hall, a seven-story classroom structure.

ON THE fifth floor they entered police science classrooms and barricaded themselves briefly inside by handcuffing the knobs of double doors. A glass door to a faculty member's office was broken, and a student was cut on the hand during a scuffle.

The next target was the Physical Education Building, where a trophy case was smashed, windows were torn out by the frames, and a sprinkler system damaged enough so that the gym floor was flooded.

During the commotion there were reports that some students who failed to get out of the way were pushed aside, but there were no reports of injuries. The main body of marchers were described as peaceful.

Campus security officer Elmer C. Graham earlier reported "It looks as if they're trying to close down all our classes."

THE San Francisco State College struggle shifted to busy Union Square Friday for a noon-hour antistrike rally that produced lots of speeches, a fight and noisy heckling.

On the 18,000-student campus, meantime, some 200 chanting student and faculty pickets marched at the main entrance.

Antipollution Order

TRENTON N.J. (UPI) — The State Health Department Friday ordered International Flavors and Fragrances Inc. of Union Beach to stop discharging industrial wastes into Raritan Bay.

The rally at Union Square was sponsored by the United Students Committee for an Academic Environment, composed of the self-styled silent majority against the strike that has ripped the campus more than two months.

A small crowd swelled to about 500 persons. At the front was a contingent of pro-strikers who tried to drown out speakers with their shouts, and often succeeded.

A scheduled speaker, S.F. State Acting President S. I. Hayakawa did not show up. A college source said he had been advised not to because of two bomb incidents on campus on Thursday.

U.S. Team to Probe S.F. Unrest

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A team of government scientists will look into recent disturbances at San Francisco State College as the start of a long range program of research on Violence, Attorney General Ramsey Clark said Friday.

Clark said the National Institute of Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice will send teams to other violence spots in the future as a part of its search for new ways of reducing and preventing both individual and mass violence.

The project will be conducted over a period of several years, Clark said.

The institute is a research agency of the law enforcement assistance administration created by the omnibus crime bill.

Patrick V. Murphy, the new law enforcement assistant administrator said a four-member team will begin work on the San Francisco campus Sunday. The team will be headed by Dr. Ralph G. H. Siu, an associate administrator who is also director of the institute.

"They plan weeks of interviews with college spokesmen, students, city and police officials, and others in reviewing all pertinent aspects of disturbances," Murphy said.

Global Satellite System for Military Use in Works

By WALTER SULLIVAN
New York Times Service
WASHINGTON — The United States is quietly developing global satellite systems for both tactical and strategic military communications. They should ultimately enable men on the battlefield to talk with their commanders via space relay stations.

At present, according to a report submitted to Congress by the White House Friday, the Defense Satellite Communications System already has 22 Earth satellites in operation and a large number of ground terminals in this country and abroad.

By early 1971, it is planned to have several additional satellites of this system in synchronous orbit over the equator. In such an orbit, the satellite is far enough above the Earth that its orbital motion matches the Earth's over the same spot.

These satellites will beam their transmissions towards the Earth and will also have special narrow-beam antennas that, on radio command, can be aimed at specific areas one or two thousand miles in diameter. One such station will be able to handle "hundreds" of voice channels on its broad-beam system, plus additional "hundreds" of voice channels via its narrow beam.

To provide small units on the battlefield with reliable communications, man-pack equipment is being developed experimentally by the Army. The armed services are also working on portable units for jeeps, aircraft and ships.

Special satellites for tactical communications were launched in July 1967 and September 1968. A larger, more complex one, called Tacsat 1, is to be launched early this year.

It will be tested with communications units in tactical vehicles, planes and naval vessels "to provide the basis for a truly operational tactical satellite communications system within the next few years."

Nine countries of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization are participating in some of these tests. Presumably, relay of messages via satellite will make jamming more difficult, it also obviates dependence on upper atmospheric layers to reflect signals beyond the horizon. Such radio reflection is subject to blackouts when eruptions occur on the sun.

These developments are reported in the President's report to Congress on aeronautics and space activities in 1968. In the section dealing with the National Aeronautics and Space Council, the policy-making body for space, the stage is set for the decisions that must be made by the Nixon administration.

"Since the greatness of a nation depends to an important degree upon mastering and putting to use technological advances," it says, "new goals and new directions must be established in space to maximize the existing and potential benefits of this new national asset." Noting American numerical superiority in space shots, the report warns against complacency. "The USSR effort is vigorous and appears to be on a trend of increasing investment and increasing accomplishment. At existing rates, the Russians could overtake and possibly surpass the U.S."

Last year, the report said, the Russians launched 74 space vehicles, compared to 64 by the U.S. The total for the 11 years, through 1968, since the birth of the space age, was 606 American launchings against 358 for the Russians.

The report also noted that Americans have spent 3,215 hours in space, compared to 631 man-hours for the Russians.

The total American spending on space activities to date has been $56,727,500,000. Of this $17 billion was spent by the Defense Department, $38 billion by NASA and the rest by other agencies such as the Atomic Energy Commission.

3-MAN SHIP LANDS

2nd Russ Craft Due Down Today With 1 Astronaut

New York Times Service

MOSCOW — As the Russians were concluding their latest space experiment, qualified western observers here termed the linkup of two manned spacecraft and the transfer of two astronauts from one to the other a significant step in the Soviet program.

One craft, Soyuz 4, with three men aboard, made a safe landing FRIDAY safe landing Friday morning in the snow-covered steppes of central Kazakhstan.

The second craft, Soyuz 5, carrying one astronaut, is expected to land today in the same area, 25 miles northwest of the coal-mining center of Karaganda.

Western analysts, commenting on the latest series of the Soyuz project, hesitated to draw comparisons with the American program because of the different priorities given to space exploration by the United States and the Soviet Union.

THE PRESENT mission of the U.S. is to land astronauts on the moon later this year. The Soviet Union appears to be pursuing a more diversified program including unmanned flights to the vicinity of the moon and the planets and manned activities in orbit around the earth.

In the view of the analysts the Soviet docking and space walks during the latest Soyuz flights might not appear spectacular when compared with the Apollo 8 mission around the moon in December but they represented an essential element in the Soviet space program.

The linkup of two manned ships was regarded as a first step toward the assembling of large orbital stations. These stations, in the view of the analysts, may be used both as scientific laboratories and as launching platforms for space ships toward the moon and Venus, Mars and other planets.

SOYUZ 4 carried Lt. Col. Vladimir A. Shatalov, who was aboard when the vehicle was launched Tuesday morning, and the two astronauts who boarded his ship after an hour-long space walk from Soyuz 5. They were Lt. Col. Yevgeny V. Khrukov of the air force and Alexei S. Yeliseyev, a civilian engineer.

The spacecraft began its deceleration for descent while it was over Africa. One of the two sections of the Soyuz, the orbital compartment, was separated from the main compartment used by astronauts during launch and return to earth. The craft made a controlled descent through the atmosphere using aerodynamic lift and reached the target area where its orange-colored parachute system and retro-rockets insured a soft touchdown.

WHEN THE ASTRO-NAUTS emerged from their cabin into a temperature of 30 degrees below zero Fahrenheit, they were promptly met by recovery teams and by local farmers.

The astronauts were flown to the city of Karaganda, where, after a brief rest, they gave a news conference for Soviet reporters.

Shatalov was quoted as having said: "I hope we will have more flights soon and at more frequent intervals."

The Russians have had far fewer manned space flights than the Americans.

The three men were then flown to the space center at Baikonur, 320 miles to the west.

Meanwhile, Lt. Col. Boris V. Volynov, left alone aboard Soyuz 5, which was launched Wednesday morning, produced more telecasts for Soviet viewers, displaying the interior of his spacecraft. Upon request from ground control, he focused his camera on a portrait of Lenin in the cabin.

According to an official announcement Volynov made a new correction of the Soyuz 5 orbit, giving it an apogee (high point) of 142 miles and a perigee (low point) of 125 miles.

'DIFFERENCES PUBLIC, NOT PRIVATE'

Kennedy in Tribute to Johnson

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a farewell tribute, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy told his colleagues Friday that the differences which arose between the Kennedys and President Johnson sprang from public issues, not private grievances.

"I know that President Johnson understood this, and history will as well," Kennedy said.

He was one of a number of senators of both parties who — in an atmosphere devoid of drama, with the galleries nearly empty — wandered on and off the Senate floor to pay tribute to Johnson four days before he abandons the presidency.

The Senate met two hours earlier than usual so members could hail the retiring chief.

Kennedy, in his brief speech, said: "President Johnson was a loyal lieutenant of John F. Kennedy who had chosen him as his constitutional successor. He campaigned hard and effectively for the election of Sen. Robert Kennedy and myself to the U.S. Senate.

"He was extremely gracious and understanding to all of us after the events of November 1963. "The differences that developed later on came not from personal grievances but from the obligation of men in public life to discharge their responsibilities to the people of the United States as they saw them and from what at the time were fundamental differences over important public policies."

KENNEDY, D-Mass., said Johnson "gave leadership to this country, promoted its economic growth and its security, inspired a historic record of legislation, and gave the best of his talents and his judgment to the overwhelming responsibilities of the office he held."

Democrats and Republicans, those who served with him and those who barely knew him, friend and foe — all heaped praise on Johnson.

Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., the Republican who lost the presidency to Johnson in 1964, said the President served "with credit and honor, and the nation thereby owes him its thanks."

"As you doubtless realize I have mixed emotions when I think about Lyndon Johnson," Goldwater said. "I singlehandedly conferred upon him the title of Landslide Johnson."

REPUBLICAN leader Everett Dirksen of Illinois intoned: "Hail and farewell and godspeed."

"When Lyndon Baines Johnson leaves the nation's capital, we shall miss him," Dirksen said. "He shall also miss us."

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said in the perspective of history, "Lyndon Johnson will have been seen to have linked the past with the present."

Sen. George D. Aiken, Vt., the senior Senate Republican, said, "He made mistakes but they were honest mistakes. We leave it to history to balance the virtues against the errors. My personal opinion is that history will be

State Banks in Good Shape; Have $52 Billion

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The California banking industry has never done better, state superintendent of banks James M. Hall reported Friday.

Preliminary figures for 1968 indicate total assets of all commercial banks in the state amounted to $52 billion, a record high.

Hall said total loans and discounts gained 11.5 per cent, rising to $30 billion. Total deposits were up 10 per cent to $45 billion.

At the year's end, Hall said the number of banking offices in the state was 2,909, a net gain of 104. However, the number of banks dropped from 171 to 156 because of 15 mergers during the year.

LBJ is 'Unhappy' with Congress Pay; Offers Tax Bonus

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson, whose administration has asked taxpayers to hold pay raise demands this year to no more than 5 per cent, said Friday the 41 per cent pay boost he handed congressmen this week wasn't enough.

So he proposed they now give themselves a $2,500 tax bonus on top of their higher pay.

Congress already has voted a 100 per cent pay boost for the President, from $10,000 to $200,000, to take effect with the inauguration of President-elect Richard M. Nixon Monday.

Johnson, in his budget message to Congress Wednesday formally triggered an increase from $30,000 to $42,500 in annual pay of House and Senate members. Only a positive vote by the House or Senate can stop it, and this seemed highly unlikely.

But in a follow-up message to the lawmakers Friday the outgoing President said he would have set the new pay scale at $50,000, as recommended by a salary commission, except that he was told congressmen would be reluctant to accept an increase of that size.

"When it comes to a pay increase, Congress puts its own members last in line," Johnson said.

He recommended that a $3,000 tax deduction which lawmakers now can claim on the basis of having to maintain homes here and in their home states be raised to $5,500.

Aside from the proposed new tax break for congressmen only, a move took shape in the House Friday to block the whole array of pay boosts for congressmen, top government officials and judges, all of which are to take effect March 1, unless the House or Senate says no by Feb. 13.

Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, filed a short-cut resolution with an admittedly faint hope of winning a rules committee clearance for an up or down vote in the House on the pay raises. But considering the timetable prescribed by law, and other factors, such action seemed unlikely.

Senators Pass LBJ Nominees

WASHINGTON (P) — Republican senators yielded Friday and allowed 11th-hour confirmation of 176 postmaster appointments made by President Johnson.

GOP members, using parliamentary delaying tactics, stalled action Thursday, producing an angry reaction from Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

The overnight change reportedly stemmed from Republican concern that continued opposition to the confirmations could lead to delay in approval next week of Winton M. Blount, President-elect Nixon's choice for postmaster general.

Some Republican senators were said to have read a threat of retaliation into Democratic comments on the delaying move.

Reagan Names 2 Appointments

SACRAMENTO (P) — Gov. Reagan Friday reappointed Elvin B. Connolly of San Mateo to a $30,572-a-year job as a member of the State Workmen's Compensation Appeals Board.

Connolly, 58, is a Republican.

His appointment to the four-year term is subject to Senate confirmation. Kerry W. Mulligan of St. Helena, 44, a Republican, was named to the State Water Resources Control Board by Reagan, a $20,500 a year job. He succeeds Ralph J. McGill of San Francisco, who is retired. This appointment also is subject to Senate confirmation.

Staff Fills Halls for Rusk Goodby

New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — Secretary and Mrs. Dean Rusk made a ceremonial departure from the Department of State Friday night, walking side by side through crowds of department employees gathered in the front lobby to bid them farewell.

After strolling through the applauding throng, Rusk sepped to a microphone, visibly moved as seldom before in his public life. He cut his parting remarks very short.

"I'm afraid the old ice-man is beginning to melt under your kindness," he said. "We came here eight years ago quietly, and now we're going to depart quietly. Thank you all very much."

The secretary quickly turned and walked out of the building. Standing alone with his wife, he waited for a moment while his official limousine pulled into the driveway, then turned back for a final wave of goodbye.

LBJ'S POPULARITY BOOSTED BY TALK

NEW YORK (UPI) — President Johnson shot up about 20 per cent in the public's esteem after his State of the Union address Tuesday, according to a poll by Sindlinger & Co. made public Friday.

Based on nationwide telephone interviewing between Jan. 12-14, the Sindlinger Poll showed 44.3 per cent of Americans thought Johnson had done a good job as president, whereas 64.5 thought he had done a good job in a poll taken Jan. 15-16 after the nationally televised speech.

The poll said 22 per cent thought he was doing a bad job before the speech, 22.6 per cent were conditional, and 11.1 per cent had no opinion or refused to say. After the speech only 14.6 thought he had done a bad job, 13 per cent were conditional, and 7.9 per cent had no opinion or refused to say.

The poll showed 65.6 per cent though Johnson had done all he could to settle the war before the speech and 69.9 thought he had after the speech. The poll indicated the 85.6 per cent of Americans had either viewed, read or heard about the speech.

Trust Suit Charges IBM Monopoly of Computer Field

NEW YORK (AP)—The federal government accused International Business Machines Corp. Friday of developing a monopoly in the mushrooming multi-million-dollar computer field, an industry in which it is a dominant firm.

A civil antitrust suit in U.S. District Court against IBM was described as the biggest monopoly case ever brought by the outgoing Johnson administration, a star member of which is joining IBM later this month.

The Justice Department asked a restraining order against IBM, which it said handles 74 per cent by value of all digital computers in the nation.

IBM replied that the very growth of the industry and the proliferation of firms within it during the past two decades offered evidence against any stifling competitive practices on its part.

THE GOVERNMENT complaint noted that the computer industry handled $3 billion in sales and leases in 1967 and charged IBM discouraged potential rivals for a share in this economic plum through its pricing practices and special allowances to its customers.

The government suit followed by two weeks a $1-billion damage suit filed against IBM by Data Processing Financial & General Corp., which was based on alleged antitrust law violations. Data Processing claimed IBM's practices had prevented it from attaining higher profits.

Last December, Control Data Corp. also filed a civil antitrust suit against IBM and asked the courts to consider breaking up

Urges End to Fixed Stock Fee

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department recommended Friday that the fixed commissions now charged buyers and sellers of stocks be abolished within five years.

The size of commissions charged by stock brokers then would be determined by competition between brokerage houses.

IF CARRIED out, the department's recommendation could have an enormous impact on the cost of buying and selling stocks. These costs — called commissions — are now set by stock exchanges.

The Justice Department made its suggestion in a memorandum to the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), the government agency which oversees stock transactions, brokers and stock markets.

The SEC is conducting its own investigation of commissions.

There has been speculation that the Justice Department might file antitrust suits to force the elimination of fixed commissions, which it considers in violation of antitrust laws except to the extent they are necessary for the operation of stock exchanges.

UNDER the Justice Department's plan, fixed commissions for transactions over $50,000 would be eliminated immediately. Each year for five years that ceiling would be reduced by $10,000.

Thus after the first year there would be no fixed fee for transactions over $40,000, after the second year none for transactions for $30,000 and so on.

During the fourth year, it would be up to the SEC to determine what to do about transactions under $10,000.

the firm, which netted a record $871 million last year.

In denying the government's accusations, as it had those of its two competitor firms, IBM said it believes "the government action to be unwarranted and without foundation."

AN IBM SPOKESMAN said the firm has been engaged for nearly three years with other data processing companies in discussions with the Justice Department. The statement added:

"One of the key issues in these discussions has been whether there has been sufficient competition in the data processing industry or whether IBM has such monopolistic powers that fully effective competition does not exist."

"Evidence of the open and strongly competitive nature of the computer industry is abundant. Virtually nonexistent 20 years ago, it has grown into a multibillion-dollar industry that has attracted more than 60 manufacturers of computer systems and some 4,000 companies dealing in related equipment, support and services."

"New companies as well as major and established ones have been freely and effectively entering the industry, whether they have a competence in electronics, a background in business machines, or simply a technical innovation which can be developed into a business."

Nicholas Katzenbach, outgoing undersecretary of state, is slated to become IBM vice president and general counsel Jan. 20. As head of the firm's legal staff it is expected to fall to his lot to defend IBM against the charges by the Justice Department, which he once headed as U.S. attorney general.

IN WASHINGTON, Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, who succeeded Katzenbach as attorney general, said the civil suit featured government allegations that IBM pursued manufacturing and marketing policies that denied other manufacturers an adequate opportunity to compete effectively.

It said IBM has discriminated among customers and had limited development of computer programming and support industries through a policy of quoting a single price for a computer system, programming know-how and related support.

As a result, it said, the ability of IBM's competitors to compete effectively was hindered.

The department asked that IBM be required to price, sell and lease separately its computer system, programming know-how and other support.

THE SUIT also asked for provisions barring IBM from setting prices that fail to reflect reasonable returns and from granting special allowances that unreasonably inhibit the entry or growth of competitors.

Congress Warned of 'Revolt' on Tax

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury Secretary Joseph W. Barr told Congress Friday middle-income Americans might mount a "taxpayers' revolt" unless tax reform is undertaken promptly.

He told the joint House-Senate Economic Committee tens of millions of Americans in the $7,000 to $20,000 a year income bracket may rebel "because certain provisions of the tax laws unfairly lighten the burdens of others who can afford to pay."

"I will hazard a guess that there's going to be a taxpayers' revolt in this country if we don't do something about it," he said.

"People are concerned and indeed angered about the high-income recipients who pay little or no federal income taxes," Barr testified.

For example, he said, there were 155 tax returns with adjusted gross incomes above $200,000 in which no federal income taxes were paid in 1967. Twenty-one of these reported income over $1 million each, he said.

N.Y. Stock Exchange Broadens Controls

NEW YORK (UPI) — The board of governors of the New York Stock Exchange Thursday broadened its disciplinary powers and strengthened existing powers over its membership.

The board, along with American Stock Exchange governors, also voted to continue the five-day trading week with its 90-minute shorter trading day.

Both boards acknowledged a paperwork problem persists in many member firms' back offices. They voted to close the stock markets on Friday, Feb. 21, the day before Washington's Birthday, but recommended the brokerage houses use the day to work on backlogs.

Both exchanges will be open on Lincoln's Birthday, Feb. 12. They broke with

'SHAW CASE MIGHT NEVER COME TO TRIAL' Garrison Asks Another Delay

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The long-delayed trial of Clay L. Shaw, charged with conspiring to kill President John F. Kennedy, appeared headed for another delay Friday—this time at the request of Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's office. There was a strong hint the case might never come to trial.

An aide to the controversial district attorney of Orleans Parish asked an indefinite continuance Friday, shortly after a federal judge demanded additional evidence before he would order the release of autopsy photographs and X-ray.

Judge Edward A. Haggerty Jr., who has scheduled the Shaw trial to start Tuesday in Criminal District Court here, said he would rule on the motion Monday.

James L. Alcock, Garrison's top assistant in the Shaw case, filed a motion for the continuance after Judge Charles Halleck of the Court of General Sessions in Washington, D.C. ordered Garrison's aides to back up their claim that Kennedy was fired upon from at least two directions.

AT A NEWS conference, Alcock charged the federal government with withholding evidence vital to the case and criticized Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark for releasing Thursday night the findings of a panel of medical experts who examined the autopsy material.

Alcock called the panel report "only a small portion of the evidence, and only that which favors the defense and the Warren Report."

Garrison contends Kennedy was assassinated in a conspiracy by several men and not by Lee Harvey Oswald alone, as found by the government commission headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Garrison has charged Shaw, a 55-year-old bachelor businessman, with conspiring to assassinate Kennedy. Shaw has been out on $10,000 bond since he was charged March 1, 1967.

"I am today filing a motion requesting a continuance of this case to be reset only after receipt by this office of all of the evidence called for in our subpoenas, of the evidence used in the autopsy report and all other evidence secretly held by the federal government," Alcock said.

"In the event the federal government does not honor our subpoenas and blocks our attempts to present all of the evidence, this case cannot be brought to trial," Alcock said.

SHAW'S ATTORNEYS were surprised and said they would fight the continuance. They have previously sought numerous delays in the case.

"This comes as a shock, obviously," said Salvatore Panzeca, one of Shaw's lawyers.

"We are going to oppose any motion for a continuance and ask for a speedy trial," said another Shaw lawyer, F. Irvin Dy-

Court Halts Oil Merger

NEW YORK (AP) — The proposed merger of Atlantic Richfield Co. and Sinclair Oil Corp. was barred Friday by a temporary restraining order issued by Judge William B. Herlands in U.S. District Court.

The Justice Department has sought the temporary injunction pending a trial on whether the proposed merger was in violation of antitrust statutes.

The restraining order expires in 10 days.

Herlands said he issued it "to avoid irreparable injury to the public."

THE order restrains the oil companies from:

—Taking any further action to "consummate the merger plan," in which Sinclair would be merged with Atlantic, and Atlantic becoming the surviving company.

—Taking any further action to "consummate any similar agreement."

—"Making any changes directly, or indirectly, in the corporate structure, commercial operations and properties of defendants Atlantic and Sinclair other than in the regular and ordinary course of business."

mond. "We want to get this thing behind us. We are delighted that we are being given the benefit of a hearing and we will strenuously oppose the motion."

Garrison's office has several other avenues of delay available if Judge Haggerty rules against the motion. Alcock said that in such a case he could appeal to the Louisiana Supreme Court. The prosecution also could drop the charge against Shaw and reinduct him at a later date.

ALCOCK ONCE was quoted as saying, "We can and will try him—Shaw—without the autopsy report and X-rays."

He acknowledged making the statement Friday but added, "However, since Ramsey Clark has released only a small portion of the evidence, and only that which favors the defense and the Warren Report, it is absolutely necessary that we obtain that evidence upon which the panel based their opinion of the autopsy before proceeding to trial."

Judge Halleck said in Washington Friday that he would not order presentation of the autopsy documents at the Shaw trial until he is convinced that Garrison is not simply conducting a fishing expedition and trying to get "what surely must be sensational photographs."

He said he would not delay the matter more than two weeks.

GARDENING

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

Before we consider an efficient, short-cut rose pruning trick, let's get one thing straight about when to prune roses. Ask several hobby rosarians and they'll suggest an approximate pruning date. That's because they may plan to exhibit their lovely roses at flower shows in the spring. Others might mention several conflicting times you should prune your roses.

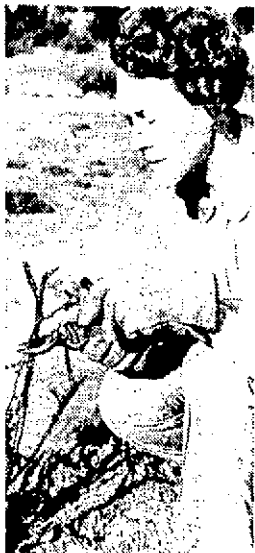

We feel that the best time to prune roses is just as soon as you notice the buds are swelling on the branches. Get out and prune them soon as you can any time in January or into the first third of February. If you live in a colder area you may not need to prune your roses until later.

It is important to know how to prune properly, quickly, and effectively.

PRUNING . . . of hybrid tea roses, first involves a study of each bush to determine which are the 1968 "models" — new succulent (Basal) canes. Completely cut out an equal number of oldest — woodiest with many side branches — knobby large canes. Pruning in this way, you have removed from 30 to 50 per cent of the oldest branches of the rose bush with minimum cuts! This means the rose is rejuvenated with new wood, and the gardener has saved time pruning them. All he does then, is to cut the remainder branches back to the desired buds and height.

Floribunda and grandiflora roses usually need only the removal of equal number of oldest canes. These will be by new, good succulent large canes.

The long branches of

ROSE PRUNING TRICK
Shortcut to Garden Beauty

climbing hybrid tea roses are not pruned back. Instead the oldest many branched long-lateral canes are completely cut out and replaced with the nod, long succulent canes. In this way the climbing roses rejuvenated. The only way a gardener can have a climbing hybrid tea rose produce several crops of roses throughout the active growing season all along the lateral canes (which are tied to supports) is to tie the ends of the canes under, when they've reached the area of wall or fence to be covered. Doing this stops the lateral canes from growing longer. Instead, the buds on the canes burst forth with secondary upright branches and bloom! The finished flowering branches then are cut back to within two to three buds of the lateral canes. New growth pops up and later they too bloom. This stops the canes from ever growing longer.

Soil should be thoroughly moist around pruned roses. Large cuts half inch or more should be sealed with a pruning compound. The roses are to be watered well, followed by a thorough "dormant clean-up spray," also of the ground around the bushes. Scatter a cupful of bone meal and a cupful of soil sulphur around each bush, and scratch this into the soil. Spread about three inches of manure and soak well. Keep moist a few days, then water normally. Don't be itchy fingered to feed the plant until half to inch of new growth has developed.

CARNATIONS . . . are pruned back anytime from latter part of January well on into March. Its also an ideal time to start cuttings. Unlike many other kinds of plants cuttings that are smoothly cut, just below the lowest node (bud). Carnation cuttings are snapped from the long branches. Lowest leaves are pinched off. The cuttings are set in a box of sand or rooting medium with a glass cover over the top.

will bloom in the ground or in pots, but rarely in dense shade. One year we planted 2 yellow calla bulbs, one in each pot. We mixed bone meal with a soil mixture of organic material and soil. We put one potted calla under a large camellia in shade. The other was placed in the sun near the drip line of an apricot tree where it had sunlight nearly all day.

At blooming time, only the calla in the sun flowered. The one in shade had lush foliage but no bloom! Leave them in the ground for several years and they'll multiply. Be sure to feed them during peak of bloom, otherwise the rich yellow color fades to a light lemon tone.

Q. — Some time ago, I asked you for a late peach tree, you told me what to get. No one seems to know the curlew variety of peach. Could you tell me where to get one? M.E. Greenstreet.

A. — Armstrong Nurseries in Ontario introduced this tree and we suggest you write them, Armstrong Nurseries Inc., Ontario, California. If they don't have it, ask them about Miller's Late peach. Good luck!

Q. — What should I be doing to my dichondra lawns right now? They look sick. We've had frost. Would that turn the leaves brown? When should they be fertilized? I'm going to use weed killer at the end of January or beginning of February. Mrs. L.C. Mount.

A. — Frost hastened the browning of the oldest mature leaves, hence the lawn has a rust-like appearance, although there are many green leaves. Fertilize the dichondra now. You'd be wiser to use a turf fertilizer containing weed herbicides to kill oxalis, also kill many small broad-leaf weed seeds and grass weed seeds before they sprout.

Q. — We have a beautiful evergreen elm tree growing at our mountain home in the Idyllwild area. This year since the tree lost its leaves we notice that something is boring little shallow holes all over the tree. Do hope you can help us real soon might lose our tree. PRISCILLA'S POP

YOUR HOROSCOPE by JEANE DIXON

FORECAST FOR SUNDAY

YOUTH birthday today: This year will be a switch to simpler, more effective habits. Attention to causes will be necessary, along with an effort to avoid difficulties rather than try to resolve them after they arise from negligence. To-day's natives are in a position of ideas and have talent at putting them to use.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Attend your usual Sunday social contacts. Then take the day off for rest, light recreation, expecting no great excitement or serious developments.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Visit those who do not travel. Do something for these people, without seeking reward. Resolve not to get involved in complicated discussions.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Where you meet people, speak directly to the point so that no confusion arises; everybody hears only what he wants to hear today. Study, reading, music are desirable.

CANCER (June 21-July 21): Once your Sunday duties are done, much can be accomplished clearing up correspondence, errands, and the like. Your male would have much to say today in any case and the ideas are quite worth hearing.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 22): Keep the peace at nearly all costs! Calm discussion will resolve most tensions. Avoid rushing any chore that brings fatigue.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Do your share in the community in the midst of work on your personal concerns, creative projects. Take the time to exercise, and to meditate.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You can create unnecessary problems by meddling. Younger people tend to create discord, which you are called on to arbitrate.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Refrain from doing repairs on budgets unless you are well experienced. Exceptional care is very strongly urged in the use of edged or power tools. Inflammable materials during the work. Pleasant manners, even when you don't feel that way, are a must.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Your will probably find yourself in the midst of a social whirl today, with people gathering around to discuss group action or another helpful suggestion. Mediation is a proper part of your Sunday.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Family affairs are emphasized. Except misunderstanding and may no serious attention, as it will all straighten out quickly. Keep things light by doing nothing that is not required at the moment.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): The early hours are normal. As the day wears on, take things more calmly, and look through the afternoon.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): This is more of a day to stay put and do small things rather than on ranging across the country. If you must drive, watch for the irresponsible driver.

Galbraith Warns Nixon Against Vietnam 'Hawks'

By BOB HOUSER
Political Editor

Americans for Democratic Action president John Kenneth Galbraith said Friday the real foes of the Nixon administration will be those who peddle hawkish advice on the Vietnam war.

Galbraith, speaking at a Los Angeles news conference before his speech tonight at the National Roosevelt Day Awards dinner at the Beverly Hilton, said, "I assume Mr. Nixon knows the real enemies to his administration are not the liberals but rather those who tell him the Vietnam war is about to be won, that the enemy is on his last legs, apply a little more force and more bombing and we'll have victory."

The Harvard economist also said "no choice has to be made" between inflation and unemployment, as implied by Nixon's economic advisors, "if we will face up to the need for wage and price restraints on an organized basis."

He said a dangerous trend of the Nixon administration would be its "extensive reliance on interest rates to curb inflation." Higher rates, he said, progressively damage the building trades and industries which depend upon borrowed money.

THE GREATEST PROBLEM the country faces, "by all odds, is the ghetto," Galbraith said. "The impossible living conditions in central core cities. But I don't think any of the problems of the major American cities are not related to money."

He suggested an overwhelming diversion from military expenditures to the cities. Noting that liberals are grateful to former President Eisenhower for "putting on the agenda" his warning against development of huge military-industrial complexes, Galbraith said "the vulnerability of the Nixon administration will be principally in this area — and he won't be helped by having David Packard as undersecretary of Defense."

Galbraith also blithely predicted a stock market crash, without offering any time element. "The insanity of 1929 is spreading through the country — the idea that you can get rich sitting down."

Describing himself as the official historian of the 1929 market crash, Galbraith assigned the blame for that event to "a number of people who took leave of reality, assumed that the market would go up and up and that they were specially qualified or had some kind of magic to be assured that they were meant to be rich."

"This insanity builds up to a crash; it's now underway, but I'm not saying when the culminating idiocy will occur."

HE SAID HE is more sympathetic to spending for space because "this translates our rivalries with the Soviet Union into more benign channels than a weapons competition."

Galbraith said he sees a "quite rapid modernization process among Democrats" in the next four years as a result of the lessons of the last presidential election and of the absence of the divisive issue of foreign policy.

He praised the choice of Sen. Fred Harris, D-Okla., as new national Democratic chairman as "excellent." Asked if he would support Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., if he becomes a presidential candidate in 1972, Galbraith replied, "automatically."

Queried about campus disturbances, Galbraith said, "I find it difficult to be sorry that students are taking an interest in life again . . . I take rather a benign view of the changes that have taken place in the 30 years (since his days at the University of California)."

"The United States definitely will be better as a result of student concern. Some of it is misguided, but there are some real areas of reform," he said.

Smokers' Clinics Proposed

By BEN ZINER
Medical-Science Editor

Free smoking-withdrawal clinics for Long Beach and Orange County were proposed Friday by two medical professors.

The clinics, which would test four approaches to smoking withdrawal, would be financed under the Regional Medical Programs setup.

Known as RMP, the Regional Medical Programs were established by Congress to improve care of persons with heart disease, cancer and stroke.

THE PROPOSED clinic-testing program was approved Friday by the Long Beach district committee for RMP in a meeting in Long Beach Community Hospital.

How the clinics would function was described Friday by Dr. Gerald H. Whipple, associate professor of medicine at UC Irvine College of Medicine, and Dr. Daniel S. Castile, assistant clinical professor of psychiatry and human behavior at the medical college.

In the grant application, Dr. Castile is proposed as the program director.

Four approaches, two of them mainly medical, are proposed.

In one, a drug known as pargyline would be used in an attempt to ward off the psychological depression expected when one withdraws from the use of tobacco.

Use of this drug would be coupled with "emotional reinforcement" and use of educational materials.

IN ANOTHER approach, a lozenge containing the drug lobeline would be tested to see how well it can curtail smoking desire.

A third approach, called self-help group therapy, would be patterned after the successful Alcoholics Anonymous organization.

The fourth approach, a control measure, would be a clinic offering conventional group therapy.

Initial clinics are proposed for Long Beach Naval Station and the UC Irvine campus.

Avalon Businessmen Testify at PUC Hearing on Steamer

A group of Avalon businessmen appeared before the state Public Utilities Commission (PUC) Friday in an attempt to have steamship service restored to Santa Catalina Island.

They claimed Avalon business is down as much as 40 per cent since steamship operator Charley Stillwell stopped running the S.S. Catalina last summer.

Attorneys representing the 12 Avalon businessmen charges the steamship operator used a "purported labor dispute as a means to avoid operation of (the) vessel and to circumvent the authority of the (PUC)."

James Lyons, an attorney representing the steamship interest, charged the Avalon action was a "back door approach to try a labor case before this commission."

COMMISSION Examiner Ken C. Rogers said further testimony will be taken at a second hearing, slated for 9:30 a.m. Tuesday at the State Office Building in Los Angeles.

The immediate legal issue before Rogers was a motion to dismiss the steamship cancellation action brought by the Catalina Transportation Co. and MGRS Inc., operators of the "big white steamer" which for years crossed between the mainland and Avalon.

Stillwell has announced plans to start service on a fast, 500-passenger ship, but businessman Paul Myers told Rogers the craft won't solve Avalon's problem since it can't handle the 4,000 to 5,000 visitors leaving the island on Sunday afternoon after a weekend visit.

LYONS SAID THE decision not to run the steamer in 1968 was motivated solely by the company's inability to reach an agreement with various maritime unions.

Attorney Morris W.

Young, appearing for the Avalon businessmen's committee, said the labor negotiations weren't "bona fide" and the company wanted all along to sell the ship.

"We expect to show that they intended to get rid of that boat for a long time," he said.

Edward J. Gund, labor management consultant for the steamer firm, said 43 or 44 meetings were held with union representatives. He said the main issue was the firm's demand for a reduction in the ship's crew to reduce costs.

Gund said the company bargained in good faith.

ASW Carrier Kearsarge Has Change of Command

Capt. Leonard M. Nearman, above left, is the new commanding officer of the antisubmarine-warfare carrier USS Kearsarge, succeeding Capt. Creighton W. Cook, right, who had been "at the helm" 15 months as the big flattop's 22nd C.O. The change-of-command ceremonies took place Friday at Long Beach Naval Station. Capt. Nearman has been active recently in guided missile research and development, electronic warfare and tactical command systems planning. Capt. Cook has been re-assigned to the staff of Commander, ASW Forces, Pacific, in Honolulu.

Major Strike Looms at Harvey Aluminum

By CHARLES SUTTON
Staff Writer

Union and management officials at the Harvey Aluminum Co. meet around the bargaining table today in a contract dispute that threatens to plunge the large metal firm into its second major strike in four years.

The union, negotiating with Harvey since October, served notice it is prepared to take strike action any time after midnight Sunday.

Members of Local 6700 of the United Steelworkers of America will meet at 1:30 p.m. Sunday in Longshoremen's Hall, Wilmington, for a strike vote. The company has about 2,200 workers.

THE UNION has asked for higher wages and fringe benefits in addition to stronger grievance procedures, improved job classifications and an end to discrimination against female workers.

Mrs. Barbara Lee, president of the local, said the union is giving top priority to its demands for improved health and pension plans. She said Harvey still trails the aluminum industry in wages, benefits and working conditions.

The company, whose plant lies in Los Angeles City territory near Torrance, was the scene of one of the bitterest strikes in California labor history. Triggered by a dispute over union representation, the strike started April 5, 1965, and lasted four-and-a-half months, before it resulted in the first labor contract ever negotiated at the sprawling plant.

Both the union and company paid a heavy price in the strike.

FOR THE fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1965, the company's net income fell 16 percent for all operations, but it was never disclosed how much the Torrance operation suffered as a result of hampered production, law suits and plant damage.

The union said it spent more than $1 million to finance the strike, exclusive of heavy court costs.

The strike, which climaxed a 15-year-long struggle to organize the plant's workers, was marked by strife from the start.

Salinas Plant Lost in $75,000 Blaze

SALINAS (UPI) — A vegetable packing plant on the highway between Watsonville and Moss Landing was destroyed in a $75,000 fire Friday.

All the plant workers escaped without injury before the fire consumed the building. Fire units from the State Division of Forestry, Castroville, Watsonville and Salinas helped fight the blaze of undetermined origin.

'Don't Deduct That $70'

—Wait For It

The only way a property tax refund can be obtained is through the county assessor, not through deduction from income taxes, Martin Huff, executive officer of the state Franchise Tax Board, warned Friday.

He said some property owners have deducted the $70 tax refund from their state income tax forms.

"This is a serious matter because we cannot allow that deduction, and, by the time we locate the error and notify the taxpayer, it could well be too late for him to apply for his refund through the county assessor," Huff said.

The $70 deduction was authorized by passage of Proposition 1A on the Nov. 5 ballot.

Land, Oil Income Hikes L.B. Airport Revenue by 21.9%

Earned revenue from Long Beach Airport operations increased 21.9 per cent last fiscal year, primarily because of additional leasing of land and increased petroleum sales, City Auditor Murray T. Courson said Friday.

The annual audit of the Department of Aeronautics revealed earned revenue in fiscal 1967-68 was $592,871, an increase of $106,621.

Leasing of land at the airport brought income during the year of $294,905, an increase of $44,494 over fiscal 1966-67. City commissions on the sale of petroleum products were up $25,842, to $77,645.

Probation, Fine for Arsonist

Convicted firebug Paul DeMik was fined $1,000 Friday and placed on five years probation in connection with the 1964 torching of a Long Beach church.

Superior Court Judge Roy Brown handed down the sentence after conferring with DeMik's parole officer. The 27-year-old Wilmington truck driver was convicted Dec. 17.

DeMik, who confessed burning four churches in a wave of arson in 1964, had been convicted for three of those torchings. However, a subsequent appellate court ruling provided the basis for a new trial, and DeMik was convicted in the single case.

The arsonist fled Long Beach after the fires, but a month later he was arrested by authorities in Hammond, Ind., at the scene of a $500,000 church fire, where he was serving coffee and doughnuts to firemen.

DeMik was convicted on two counts of arson and sentenced to the Indiana State Prison. He returned to Long Beach following his release and was arrested by Long Beach investigators.

Military Funds for L.B. Area

From Our National Bureau

WASHINGTON — The Defense Department proposed construction of $13.1 million Friday in facilities at Long Beach area military installations.

The largest sum, $8.3 million, was requested for administrative facilities and utilities at the Long Beach Naval Shipyard.

Other requests were for $511,000 for utilities at the Long Beach Naval Station, $4.3 million for maintenance facilities and troop housing at the El Toro Marine Corps Air Station, $577,000 for operational facilities at the Santa Ana Marine Corps Air Facility, and $90,000 for the Naval Fuel Depot at San Pedro.

La Mirada Man Named to Bench

From Our State Bureau

SACRAMENTO — Deputy Dist. Atty. William E. McGinley was appointed to the Downey Municipal Court Bench Friday by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

McGinley, who lives in La Mirada, is a 42-year-old Republican who graduated from USC Law School in 1952, and has been in the district attorney's office since 1953.

He succeeds Judge Carroll M. Dunnum in the $28,126-per-year post.

Judge Dunnum was recently elevated to the Superior Court, and is now sitting in Long Beach.

Bunny Unveiling for Hefner Jet

By HERB SHANNON
Aerospace Editor

Production ground to a halt on the Long Beach McDonnell Douglas assembly line Friday as a couple of curvaceous cottontails unveiled a familiar white rabbit insignia on an all-black DC-9 ordered by Playboy Magazine publisher Hugh Hefner.

Cheers and whistles resounded from an admiring throng of first shift workers as bunnies Gwen Wong (37-23 34) and Marilyn Mason (34-22-33), from the Los Angeles Playboy Club, mounted a scaffold to perform the ceremony for press and television cameras.

With foresight, Douglas Aircraft Co. management had scheduled the event between shifts, when production would be shut down anyway, but the bunny-clad performers and the cameramen arrived a few minutes early.

The jet-black twinjet will be outfitted as a luxurious airborne office to transport Hefner and other executives between the Chicago publishing office and the various Playboy entertainment centers throughout the nation and overseas. It will also shuttle Hefner to the West Coast for a new television series he is making.

The Playboy jet is a Series 30 DC-9, capable of carrying up to 115 passengers but special features — including a private stateroom with a king-size oval bed — will limit capacity to 50.

The $5-million sky palace also has been fitted with extra fuel tanks for intercontinental flights to Playboy interests in England, Spain and the Caribbean.

Other features of the interior, to be installed by AirResearch Corp., include a living-conference room, private motion picture and television facilities, cocktail lounge and stereo music equipment.

When not in use by the Playboy executives, the luxurious plane will be leased to Purdue Airlines for general charter work, according to Nelson Futch, Playboy vice president and promotion director. Futch directed the Douglas ceremony in the absence of Hefner, who was elsewhere on business.

In addition to operating the Playboy DC-9 in commercial work, Purdue Airlines will furnish flight crews for the flights by Hefner and his associates.

Strangely enough, the airline also will provide the stewardesses.

Seaplane 'Goose' Wings to Catalina

Catalina Seaplane service between the San Pedro waterfront and Avalon Bay resumed operations Friday with five daily round trips. The commuter airline suspended service in recent weeks for a complete overhaul of its nine-passenger Grumman Goose amphibians. More flights will be scheduled soon, including connections to Long Beach Airport.

Brutally Slain Victim Identified After 10 Months in Morgue

By GEORGE LAINE
Staff Writer

A slaying victim, whose frozen body — tagged Jane Doe — lay for 10 months in the Orange County Morgue, was tentatively identified Friday as a "wild type" who used to ride Hell's Angels.

Her name, according to a former friend living in Long Beach, was Rhonda Fisher, who came to Southern California from Georgia and would have been 25 years old this year.

The initial identification of the dead woman, found brutally slain in a Huntington Beach drainage ditch last March 14, was made by Jackie Smay, 21, of 3383 Adriatic Ave., from a photograph published in Friday's editions of the Long Beach Independent.

"IT WAS RHONDA," Miss Smay said, "I knew it as soon as I saw the photograph."

Huntington Beach police took Miss Smay to the morgue later Friday to complete the identification.

"A couple of years ago," Miss Smay said, "we were both pretty wild. We used to hang around a place on Sunset Boulevard called the Strip-Comber."

"I used to be the wild type and that's how I met Rhonda," she said. "She used to ride with the Hell's Angels."

"Rhonda would give you the shirt off her back — she did a lot for me."

"I don't know why she wanted to hang around with people like the Angels but, anyway, that's how I met her."

Rhonda—or Jane Doe, as Huntington Beach police still refer to her — was found in a ditch by three schoolboys. Her throat had been cut, she had

Tiki Room Hit by Predawn Fire

Fire destroyed the interior of the Tiki Room tavern in San Pedro Friday.

The blaze was quickly extinguished after a passerby saw smoke and alerted firemen.

A burning cigarette on a couch was listed as probable cause in the predawn fire which swept through the tavern, at 1927 S. Pacific Ave., operated by George Bates, numberous stab wounds and had been raped, police said.

Since then Rhonda — as Jane Doe — remained on the refrigerated morgue slab.

She was given a funeral at Orange County expense Friday, but there were only six names on the "visitor's list" at Smith Mortuary Chapel in Huntington Beach.

"She shouldn't be alone at her funeral," one woman said.

Another of the funeral guests was a Huntington Beach detective.

The $90 funeral and plot in Pacific View Memorial Park, Corona Del Mar were paid for by the county. Burial awaits a coroner's order.

Everything was paid for Friday.

Everything, said Rev. G. Russell Shaw, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Huntington Beach, except the life of the murdered woman.

Someone still owes for that.

Salvage Ship Seeks SAS Tragedy Clue

A Long Beach-based salvage vessel was poised to begin probing the depths off Marina Del Rey today in search of the tail section of a Scandinavian Airlines System jetliner which crashed and sank Monday night, claiming 15 lives.

The vessel, Oceanear, is seeking the part of the giant DC-8 believed to contain the flight recorder.

The forward section was scheduled to be raised onto a barge early today.

The undersea television scanning process, aboard the 100-foot search vessel from Ocean Sciences and Engineering Inc., is effective at depths up to 6,000 feet.

Recovery of the tail section of the big Douglas-built jet is important, investigators said, because the flight recorder could provide a clue to the cause of the crash for a National Transportation Safety Board team.

The tail section is believed to be on the edge of or in an undersea canyon eight miles off the coastal line.

Navy sonar probes have failed to find any debris, so the undersea TV scanner appears a last-ditch effort.

Drug Clinic for the Young Offered L.B.

By DON BRACKENBURY
Staff Writer

To counter the "markedly increasing" number of young people using dangerous drugs, Long Beach councilmen will be urged Tuesday to join the cities of Lakewood and Signal Hill in establishing a drug abuse clinic.

The proposed clinic would be administered by expanding the existing Psychiatric Clinic for Children, and financed by cash allocations from the three cities and "in-kind" professional services by Long Beach Unified School District.

A special committee of the Community Welfare Council, which has been investigating possible methods of handling the growing problem, pointed out that 250 arrests of school-age youngsters were made last year for narcotic and dangerous drug violations.

LOCAL POLICE ESTIMATE 900 JUVENILE drug arrests will be made this year, and 20 to 30 school suspensions a month will occur.

The proposed drug abuse clinic would offer diagnosis, including physical examinations and other diagnostic examinations; evaluation of problems, and treatment.

City Manager John R. Mansell said the original proposal was to limit the clinic services to young people who were apprehended for drug use, or suspended from school. Last week, however, the council's committee broadened admission eligibility to include all young people in need of clinical services.

The basic professional staff for the clinic would be a psychiatrist, a clinical psychologist and a social worker. A secondary group will be local professionals in the three fields, who would be willing to contribute time.

A third group would include psychiatric resident MDs in training, psychologists awaiting licensing in this state and social workers doing field work for their degrees. It also is hoped ministers with training in pastoral counseling will assist, particularly with parents.

MANSSELL SAID HE HAS MET with Dr. E. M. Blumberg, chairman of the council's Drug Abuse Committee, and George Logan, executive director of the council, and is convinced the clinic will provide "a vital new service for youth in this city who unfortunately are involved with the use of dangerous drugs."

Mansell said Long Beach's share of the first year's costs, based on the city's percentage of the total school-age population in the three cities, would be $20,550. After the first year's operation, he said, costs will be allocated on the basis of the number of admissions from each city.

Twenty-eight local organizations, including youth groups, medical and social service organizations, have endorsed the program, Mansell said.

ANTIQUE SHOW IN L.B. OFFERS WIDE VARIETY

"Buy my cigars or you might get scalped," wooden Indian (above), belonging to Dal's Antiques and Trading Post, Lawndale, seems to say.

It is one of displays from 66 dealers at the 1969 Long Beach Antique Show and at Sale Municipal Auditorium. The show, for which an admission fee is charged, will run through Sunday.

Show manager Mark Sekulich said dealers expect to make as much as $200,000 in sales during the event, which features antiques ranging from old "wanted" posters to roll-top desks to glassware, vintage, books and art objects.

The show, one of two held annually in Long Beach — the other being staged in September — is expected to draw a total of 15,000 persons, Sekulich said.

Driver in 2-Death Crash Denies Guilt

Salvador Molina Fernandez, 40, charged with drunken driving in a collision in which two Lakewood teen-agers suffered fatal injuries, pleaded innocent Friday in Downey Municipal Court.

Poverty Group Declines Election Endorsements

The Opportunities Industrialization Center, 2315 Atlantic Ave., has not endorsed district election of Long Beach councilmen because it makes no political endorsements, spokesmen said Friday.

At last Tuesday's meeting of the City Council charter amendment committee, district election of councilmen was advocated by Vance C. Simonds, who identified himself as a spokesman for the center.

In a letter to councilmen, L. Russell Morrison, board chairman, and W. Owen DeVaughn, interim executive director, said the OIC is a non-political organization formed to aid the poor and underprivileged.

"The local board is a policy making board and has not given authority to any board member or private individual in the city to take a position or make an endorsement regarding the city district election of councilmen," the letter said.

"It is regretted that this was done, and further denied that this was done with the knowledge and consent of the board," Morrison and DeVaughn said.

The letter said the center is "not connected in any way" with the Community for New Politics and, in fact, "the aims and policies of this organization are not known to us at all."

"It is the policy of OIC not to give political endorsements," Morrison and DeVaughn said.

charge the day of the crash, Jan. 11. The two victims, Stephen C. Schack, 18, of 6550 E. Glorywhite St., and Teri Jeanne Corzine, 16, of 4316 Clubhouse Drive, died in Downey Community Hospital two days later.

Downey traffic investigator G. E. Miller said Friday no more serious charge was sought because there was no evidence Fernandez, a laborer, of 9548 Rose St., Bellflower, committed any moving violation that caused the collision.

The traffic report said the northbound sports car driven by Schack, a student at California State College at Long Beach, was making a left turn across Lakewood Boulevard, just south of Adoree Street, at the time of the crash and failed to yield right of way to the oncoming Fernandez car.

Judge Leon Emerson set jury trial for Fernandez for March 25. The defendant is free on $308.50 bond.

A witness standing near the crash scene told officers he saw Schack's car moving at 5 to 10 miles an hour in a left-turn pocket just before the collision at 1:58 p.m.

Fernandez was accompanied by his wife, Julia, 39, and daughter, Cecelia, 18.

Santa Ana Slayer of Two to Get New Penalty Trial

By BOB GEIVET
Staff Writer

Frederick K. Saterfield, 52, who was ordered to death for slaying his common-law wife and her eldest daughter, will get a new penalty trial Monday in Santa Ana Superior Court.

He will be returned today from San Quentin Prison for the new hearing, granted by the State Supreme Court because the jury which convicted him and ordered the death penalty March 19, 1966, was composed only of those persons who said they did not object to capital punishment.

Saterfield maintained, and the high court agreed, that the jury was, therefore, biased in favor of the death penalty.

Santa Ana police arrested Saterfield for the slayings of Mrs. Patricia Washington, 30, and her eldest daughter, Mary, 16, in their home on Thanksgiving Day of 1965.

In 1950, Saterfield was convicted for slaying a man in Watts who was to have been a witness against him in a child-molestation case. After serving six years in prison, Saterfield was paroled May 7, 1956. He moved to Santa Ana shortly thereafter.

The incident which apparently triggered the Washington slayings was an unexpected visit by Mrs. Washington's former husband, George, while Saterfield was working at a night job.

The next day, Mrs. Washington told Saterfield about the visit. Saterfield became enraged, grabbed a pistol and shot the woman and her daughter, according to trial testimony.

Trial Set for Ex-Student, Ousted as Trespasser on CSLB Campus

A former student of California State College at Long Beach, arrested on campus Tuesday after student disruptions, went to court Friday to challenge the constitutionality of a trespassing law.

Jury trial for Dennis Patrick Rogan, 26, 1045 E. Third St., is set for Feb. 13.

His arrest for violation of penal code section 602.7 was for "refusal of unauthorized personnel to leave campus property."

Rogan, suspended from college last June, said he was a witness to the student gathering which sought to press demands of the Black Students Union.

When asked to leave the campus, he reportedly refused and demanded, "You'd better arrest me right now." Police did.

Rogan is free on $625 bail.

PASTOR'S SON DISTRIBUTES CLOTHES

From Lakewood to Viet Orphans

There doesn't seem to be any "generation gap" worth mentioning between Army 1st Lt. Stephen Belgum, who is in Vietnam, and his dad, Rev. Dr. Gerhard L. Belgum, who is pastor of St. Timothy Lutheran Church in Lake-wood.

Lt. Belgum first arrived in Vietnam in May, 1967. Three months later he was coordinating a little private aid program to schools and orphanages in that unhappy land, with the great and generous help of everyone at St. Timothy.

Father and son, equally oriented toward doing something for the Vietnamese people, thought up the program, and the 3,000-member congregation is still responding. Some 1,000 pounds of clothing and food have already been distributed.

Lt. Belgum, 25, who won a Bronze Star on his first tour of duty, and chose to serve another tour, has seen to it that the material goes where it is most needed. The Venerable Thich Tri Ngon, a Buddhist monk who runs a school for war orphans, recently received much needed clothing for the children of his school. Another monk also received material for more than 700 school children, many of whom lost all their possessions in the Viet Cong Tet offensive.

"That's the kind of ecumenism I'm interested in," commented Dr. Belgum this week with a smile.

As for Stephen's attitude toward the war, the father says: "As much as anyone, he deplores the need for our military action. But involved as we are, he would like to serve his best, and to add to that any kind of concern for the individuals there that is open to him."

The pastor feels moderately hopeful about the chances for peace. "I believe," he says, "that with the new administration having more possibilities open to it, the war will probably be resolved in some fashion, perhaps like the Korean settlement.

"When peace comes," he adds, "the rebuilding job in South Vietnam will be awesome. We propose here not to forget the people there."

Apropos of the new administration, Nixon spoke at young Stephen's commencement at Whittier College, the new President's alma mater.

Lt. Belgum is expected back in September, and plans to attend law school upon his discharge from the service. He will, first, tell the good people of St. Timothy how their loving are appreciated by the gifts of food and clothing "Helping the Viet-children of the schools nameless," says Lt. Young Lutherans Start Paper Which Aims to Dig Controversy VALPARAISO, I.N.D. (Lutheran Council Press Service) — A bi-weekly Lutheran tabloid whose "bias is left of center" to counteract "a plethora of right wing papers" circulated among Lutherans and other Christians has published its first issue here.

The "Lutheran Free Press" is described in its prospectus as "a newspaper edited by and for Lutheran young adults in the Church" to provide "Lutheran perspectives on religious and public issues." According to its masthead, it is dedicated to "digging the radically free style of life."

The periodical's statement of purpose asserts that "there exists a need in the Lutheran churches today for a Lutheran Free Press to report news which is of interest to the larger constituency, news which the churches' institutional press, for a variety of reasons, ignores, suppresses, or under-plays."

cohesion," the statement further declares that "religious and academic freedom, freedom of speech, press, inquiry, information, and assembly all require a free (unofficial) press which can pursue, even develop, controversial issues for the free interplay of informed concern and opinion."

Lutheran Free Press frankly seeks to influence the opinions and actions of the Lutheran and other churches, chiefly by helping keep church officials honest and by disclosing and opposing arbitrary and unfair use of ecclesiastical power, while encouraging and upholding church officials and leaders in the integrity of their exercise of power and responsibility."

Front-paged on the first issue of eight pages are articles on "Open Housing and the Missouri Synod" and "Lutheran Vicar Refuses Induction in NYC, Protests During Local Worship Service." Involved in the latter story was a Missouri Synod seminarian from the University of Chicago Divinity School who disrupted a service at Marble Collegiate church by attempting to read a statement opposing the draft and who the following day refused induction into the armed forces. Also featured is a clergy-student debate on the role of Christian radicalism in today's world. Other articles deal with various aspects

BOOKS Bible Atlas Is Thorough

THE MACMILLAN BIBLE ATLAS. By Yohanan Yonah. Macmillan $14.95.

"The Macmillan Bible Atlas" does not seem to have overlooked any facet of biblical history that can be told in maps. Since its authors are leading archeologists of the University of Jerusalem, they have drawn on late biblical, historical and archeological research to illustrate cartographically not only the Old and New Testament periods, but the Second Temple and Inter-testamental periods as well.

Bible battles and army deployments; settlements and conquests; trade routes and economic developments; the growth of the Christian Church in the first two centuries A.D.; these and many more matters are illustrated in the 262 color maps, accompanied by a sprightly text and illustrations of tools, weapons, coins, costumes, inscriptions and artifacts of the ancient Near East.

Bonner, will seek to ascertain in brief interviews which families are not actively affiliated with a church. Clergy Urged Into Smog Fight "For the first time in recorded history, all of mankind has recognized a common 'enemy' — the waste and misuse of his natural resources. And a coordinated program to preserve those life-giving resources may well be man's moral equivalent to war," a leading churchman stated this week.

Dr. Stephen H. Fritchman, minister of the First Unitarian Church of Los Angeles, gave testimony before the Air Resources Board meeting on Wednesday, stating: "The churches of the Los Angeles basin should be far more involved in the smog elimination problem than any other public institution. Our religious tradition is rooted in the survival of life on this earth of ours. Ecological damage is as sinful as nuclear war, racism, or poverty, for it destroys the very home for future generations.

'Abandon' Needed if You Would Win

By NORMAN VINCENT
PEALE

What a person! What a supreme football coach! A man I admire tremendously.

I recently spoke on a program with Vince Lombardi, coach of the Green Bay Packers; and he "turned me on" just like he inspires everyone — players and fans alike. As a longtime admirer of Vince Lombardi but knowing of his reputation as a hard driver, very tough with his players, I had pictured him as a man of gruff personality. Instead I found him affable, friendly and very good company. I communicated my impression of this genial affability to one of his players later. He said, "Heck, you're not on his team!"

"One thing I always want above all," Lombardi told me, "is to win. There is no sense playing a game unless you aim to win it. Your playing, working, thinking—everything — should be geared to winning." Referring to the job of a coach he said, "the big thing is to make men — men who want to win and are willing to give all they've got to roll up a victory."

Jerry Kramer, Green Bay Packer guard, has written a book called "Instant Replay: The Green Bay Diary of Jerry Kramer." He remembers Lombardi telling the backs one day: "This is a game of abandon. You run with complete abandon. You care nothing for anybody or anything, and when you get close to the goal line your abandon is intensified. Nothing, not a tank, nor a wall, not a dozen men can stop you from getting across that goal line!"

NO WONDER the Green Bay Packers became under Lombardi's inspired leadership one of the most terrific teams in football history! And when you think about it isn't that how you make something of your job also? You don't fool around with it. You don't dabble.

You go at it with abandon. You go all out. You make up your mind to win, nothing less.

A man whom I met at a sales convention says the biggest thing that ever happened to him was when he grasped this one dynamic idea about abandonment — and going all out and winning, and running with it. Today he is a top producer on the sales force of a giant company. This, he assured me, is a complete reversal of how things used to be.

"For years," he said, "I was a total flop. I felt life wasn't treating me right and I moped around hoping for better breaks. But those breaks didn't come. Then I happened to hear a fellow say it was no use waiting for life to do more for you — for it wouldn't until you got busy and put more into life. Life can only give what you give it. The big question, life asks of every one of us is: Are you a holdout or an all-out? And the all-outs pick up the prizes."

"Now that was exactly what I had not been doing at all. But suddenly I got a whole new slant on myself. Saw what a jerk I'd been. And the solution wasn't at all complex. I just made up my mind that I was going to give living everything I had and I got going."

"So the first thing I did the next morning was to get up earlier. This is the day I go all out!" I said aloud. I took the list of customers I was going to sell that day and started out. I got to the first store before it was even open and actually helped the man open up. What's more, I enjoyed doing it. And I showed a lot of enthusiasm for his business. As a result I made my first sale before normally I would even have been out of bed, and without any effort. In fact, all my talking was about him and his business.

"AND THAT'S how

UNDERGROUND WAR HERO

John Henry Weidner, Dutchman who was right on the Nazis' list of most wanted underground leaders during World War II in Europe, and who is credited with saving the lives of thousands of Jews, will tell his story, which included being tortured and sentenced for execution, at 4 p.m. today in Seventh-day Adventist Church, 1001 E. Third St. He was decorated by five nations — U.S., Britain, France, Holland and Israel. His book "Flee the Captor" has been widely published. Weidner came to the U.S. in 1955 on a visit, met and married an American nurse, and now operates a chain of health food stores.

things went all through the day. My whole world seemed different. I was amazed. Oh, I've got to admit I've felt like slumping back into the old dopey-Joe attitude at times, but I just can't go it for the present pace is too exciting. It pays off too well. What was wrong with me all those mixed-up years?" he concluded.

Well this, of course, is the $64 question. What is wrong with us that we are

3 FAITH GROUPS IN SUNDAY PROGRAM

Released Time Cooperation Hailed in Gala Celebration

Released-time 4th and 5th grade public school children, parents, teachers and the interested public are invited to join Sunday in a celebration of what is considered by many a model pioneer program, made possible by the cooperation of Long Beach's Christian faith groups.

The event, at 3 p.m. in Our Lady of Refuge parish hall, Los Coyotes Diagonal and Stearns Street (not St. Anthony's as originally announced), signals the opening of the 25th year in which Evangelicals, Roman Catholics and the Council of Churches have brought beginning religious training to thousands of children of the Long Beach area, at the specific request of parents, authorized by cooperating state and local school boards.

A verse choir, tableau, choral and instrumental music will highlight the students' part of the program, with audience participation in singing.

DR. McREYNOLDS
Addresses Celebration

Posters, textbooks and materials from classes will be on display and inquiries will be welcomed by teachers after the formal program.

Among community leaders assisting in the hour of fellowship and prayer will be keynote speaker, Paul R. McReynolds, Ph.D., graduate of Long Beach State College, Class of '59, now Professor of New Testament at Pacific Christian College, and leader of youth work in Compton.

Presently Dr. McReynolds is on loan to the dean of Southern California School of Theology, Claremont Colleges. As special assistant to the chairman of the International New Testament Research Project he is working on technical apparatus for the study of Greek texts. He has already received recognition for world-wide research concerning manuscripts and historical data recently brought to light in archaeological exploration.

Master of ceremonies Sunday will be Rev. C. Leroy Doty Jr. of Church of the Brethren, invocation by Rev. Jesse L. Boyd of Grant Chapel A.M.E., and welcome by Rev. Ed Phillips, Guiding Light Tabernacle, Assembly of God, who is chairman of the Inter-Faith Released Time Education Committee. Benediction will be by Rev. James J. Loughnane, of St. Cornelius Roman Catholic Church.

Southern California Military Academy cadets and released time students from each of the three faith groups will lead the salute to the flag.

The mayors of Long Beach, Lakewood and Signal Hill, by proclamation set aside the fourth week of January as a salute to the objectives of the Released Time program.

Make Him Walk!

"Walk a Mile" is the name of the recruiting game for Junior and Senior High Schoolers of Bethany Baptist Church from Sunday to Feb. 23. For each youngster they bring into their group, youth director John Coulombe has pledged to walk a mile (he doesn't smoke.) For 75 new members, he'll hitch hike to San Francisco.

Some say: "I don't need God"

Maybe you don't... if you think of God as merely some distant person, or unknowable.

But, if you were to know God as Mind, the source of all ideas and intelligence, or as Life, the source of strength and health... wouldn't it make sense to know Him better?

You can... Practical ways of knowing God are discussed at the Christian Science Sunday School. Visit a class this Sunday at

'Fundamentalists,' Those X Movies, Viet Translation

By LES RODNEY

A thought from the lively weekly mimeographed paper of College Park Church of God: "Be kind, for everyone you meet is fighting a hard battle."

AN AREA minister has (most pleasantly) called our attention to what he considers a misuse of the word "fundamentalist" on these pages. He cited two examples which he feels inadvertently fall into the pattern of the derogatory caricature image often given the word.

One was in an article on a group of offbeat young self-proclaimed evangelists, which said: "While fundamental Christians in a basic sense, they . . ." etc. The other, in last Saturday's article on the debate between Bishop Pike and Pepperdine's Dr. Banowsky, was: "Banowsky was no featherweight one-note arch-fundamentalist . . ."

The pastor who called pointed out that "fundamentalist" was a descriptive word he would use for himself, and the same would apply to such brilliant theologians and evangelists as Dr. Carl Henry and Billy Graham, and, of course, many other noted Christian leaders.

While in neither of the instances cited was our intent in any way to cast scorn on fundamentalist theology, or on fundamentalists, we can readily see, looking back, how the phrases used might lend themselves to that interpretation. We appreciate the thoughtful minister's call, as well as the kind words that went along with the criticism. We welcome comments and criticism on the contents of the religion pages (with or without the kind words.)

"BAD APPLE" movies, seeking box-office shock value in sex and violence, are a matter of growing concern to the churches, it was agreed by Southland clergymen representing 16 denominations.

Such movies, it was held at a recent meeting of the Radio-Television-Film Commission of the Council of Churches in Southern California, have distorted the greater freedom to utilize true-to-life adult themes. While some movies may indeed be "better than ever," others which merely exploit the new freedom could result in a censorship kickback by an aroused public, it was warned.

Dr. Kenneth A. Carlson, pastor of First Methodist of Glendale, who presided at the meeting, said that in his opinion the protests by the public "are not just from the blues, but from the average citizen and average community."

The ministers were highly critical of "The Killing of Sister George," an explicit portrayal of lesbianism which "won" an X rating, lowest possible, placing it off limits to anyone under 16. (Some movie critics have also lambasted the picture as tasteless exploitation of the theme.)

The consensus of opinion was that the minimum age for seeing an X-rated movie, now 16, should be at least 18. Dr. Carlson said that in his counseling experience, youngsters of 16 were prominent in the most susceptible age group.

The commission also voted unanimously to urge Southland newspapers, television and radio stations not to sell space or time for advertisements for films with an X rating. One major radio station was applauded for already having taken this step.

The rating system itself was considered worth a trial run. Dr. Clifton E. Moore, director of the commission, conceding that the system "is far from perfect," called on the clergy to support it as a step in the right direction. The guest speaker from the industry, Eugene Dougherty, a strong voice in establishing the ratings, told of some producers concerned for their image who had deleted particularly shocking scenes under threat of an X rating.

Dr. Chester M. Buley, associate executive of the Presbyterian Synod of Southern California, sharply rapped films such as "Sister George" and others which exploit blatant sex and violence.

"I cannot but feel," he said, "that they would foster a desire for experimentation that could lead to most unhappy and permanent emotional damage, particularly to young women."

These sentiments by representatives of the "mainline" Protestant denominations would seem to be a significant storm signal for movie maker to weigh, suggesting that if they don't soon censor themselves, public opinion may impose harsher methods. The Roman Catholic Church and the more fundamental Protestant groupings could be expected to have even a "harder line."

A PROJECT to translate into Vietnamese and distribute the best-selling book "You Can Trust the Communists" (to be Communists!) is well under way, reports Rev. James Colbert, chairman of the Long Beach based Christian Anti-Communism Crusade.

While in Saigon during December for the conference of the World Anti-Communist League, Colbert met with a Vietnamese literary group which has undertaken the translation and publication of the work by Fred Schwartz. The project has the cooperation of the South Vietnam government, and is financed by the Crusade here.

Some 35,000 copies will be distributed to the university students of South Vietnam, reports Colbert. The Catholic chaplains will distribute 50,000 copies to South Vietnamese troops. Some Buddhist chaplains may do likewise.

PRESIDENT NIXON, a Quaker, will find himself surrounded by Presbyterians and one member of the Cabinet meeting. No less than 5 of his 12 appointees are of that denomination — Rogers, State; Laird, Defense; Mitchell, Attorney General; Blount, Postmaster General; and Finch, Health, Education and Welfare.

The new Cabinet also contains three Roman Catholics, two Mormons, two Episcopalians (counting Vice President Agnew, who will usually sit in), and one member of the United Church of Christ.

Campus Bombs Not Very Funny

By GEORGE ERES
TV-Radio Editor

Alan King, in "Comedy is King II," brought his acid approach to things on TV Thursday night and it was for the most part a very funny show.

Most of the targets were safe enough subjects for satire — the telephone, political hypocrisy, entertainment in airplanes, men vs. women, the big swing to cents for men and revolting students.

One of these days, I guess maybe we'll look back on the student revolts and see more humor in them than it's possible to see today. Bombs on campus — or anywhere else — are not particularly funny.

IN A SENSE, the King skit on the cult of ugliness on campus was dated.
The jibes at student protest for the right to obscenity is hardly a big thing these days, and it is,
I think, a mistake to treat this as some childish prank to be handled like goldfish swallowing, panty raids or dirty words scrawled on a toilet wall.

There was point to the skit, however, in its emphasis on power-grab and the corollary that power, not intelligence, determines what education is or isn't, and what should or shouldn't be taught for credit, or who shall be heard and who shall be forced to shut up.

THIS situation was clar-ified by S.I. Hayakawa, acting president of S.F.
State College, besieged by black and white dissidents on campus, who, talking to the S.F. Chamber of Commerce, looked out on the audience on TV and noted that he didn't see any black faces. The Chamber, he noted, was recognized by the blacks as "establishment" or "power structure" and the lack of representation at the decision-making level is what all the fuss is about.

In a sense, it is a sad situation — the student revolt on the campus level — because it is in essence meaningless. Hayakawa knows what he's talking about. The "power" is not at the college levels and the instruments of change are outside of the campus.
But the campus is an easy target for the propagandists.

BACK on the humor front, Bob Hope's Chris-mas special, similarly had some comment on the student situation.

If I can paraphrase his style: "The college kids are taking over back home. If you're planning on going to college on the GI Bill when you get out of here don't let them take your rifle when you are mustered out. You may have to 'take' the college to get in."

In that area outside
"the world," the GIs listening to Hope rolled and rocked with laughter.
They were in holiday mood — they came to laugh and the interesting part of the Hope special is just that — the camera shots of the young men in the Armed Forces hugely enjoying this link with "the world," even a "world" slightly out of joint.

THERE was this persistent theme of the campus revolution through Thursday night's TV, and ending, with my viewing,

"Viewpoint" on Ch. 4, noting his problems in

Leave It To Larry

By LARRY MEDER
HARBOR CHEVROLET

A burly, boisterous and overbearing passenger on a crack railway train was giving very specific instructions to the sleeping-car conductor and finished up by saying, "I've just got to get off when we reach Toronto! I'm a very sound sleeper so if I protest when you call me, pay no mind—just get me off this train!"

Five hundred miles past his destination, the passenger was awakened by the chanting of the dining car steward. Upon finding out how he'd been allowed to sleep soundly through his point of departure, he sought out the sleeping-car conductor and proceeded to give him the verbal lambasting of his life. He said, "I told you ten times to get me up in time. Now I'll miss a deal that'll cost me thousands!" Throwing his suitcase right through the Pullman window, he stomped off shouting, "When I'm done using this wooden-axe outfit — you'll be lucky to have one caboose left!"

Another passenger, observing all this, remarked, "Golly, I've never seen a man so wild!" The sleeping-car conductor retorted, "Oh yeah? You should've seen the guy I put off at Toronto!"

By George, Young Has Lot More Life Than Picasso

By JOHN DIXON
Staff Writer

Except for the elevated Olympics, George Young hasn't lost a race since the Whigs were in power. He maintained that remarkable record Friday night in the Los Angeles Invitational by capturing the featured two-mile despite severe challenges offered by a field of internationalists.

It would take an elephant to recall Young's last loss, — other than in the marathon and steeplechase at Mexico City. Young can't remember. It wasn't in 1968, or 1969, at any distance from two miles to 26.

He didn't look like a loser in the two-mile at any time. At 31, he's got a lot more life than Picasso. Or Chaplain.

John Lawson, Olympian Tracy Smith and multiple world record holder Ron Clarke of Australia played tag with the lead.

But with one and one-half laps remaining Young passed Clarke so rapidly the Aussie appeared to be running backwards. Lawson also accelerated, but the early tortoise pace made this Young's race.

His time was a slow, intellectual 8:42.2. Lawson, PCC, was second in 8:42.6, two yards back. Clarke, making his final Southland appearance, was third in 8:44.2, Tracy Smith fourth in 8:45.8.

The crowd of 8,105 was disappointing. And it was disappointed at the absence of three Olympic Games gold medalists.

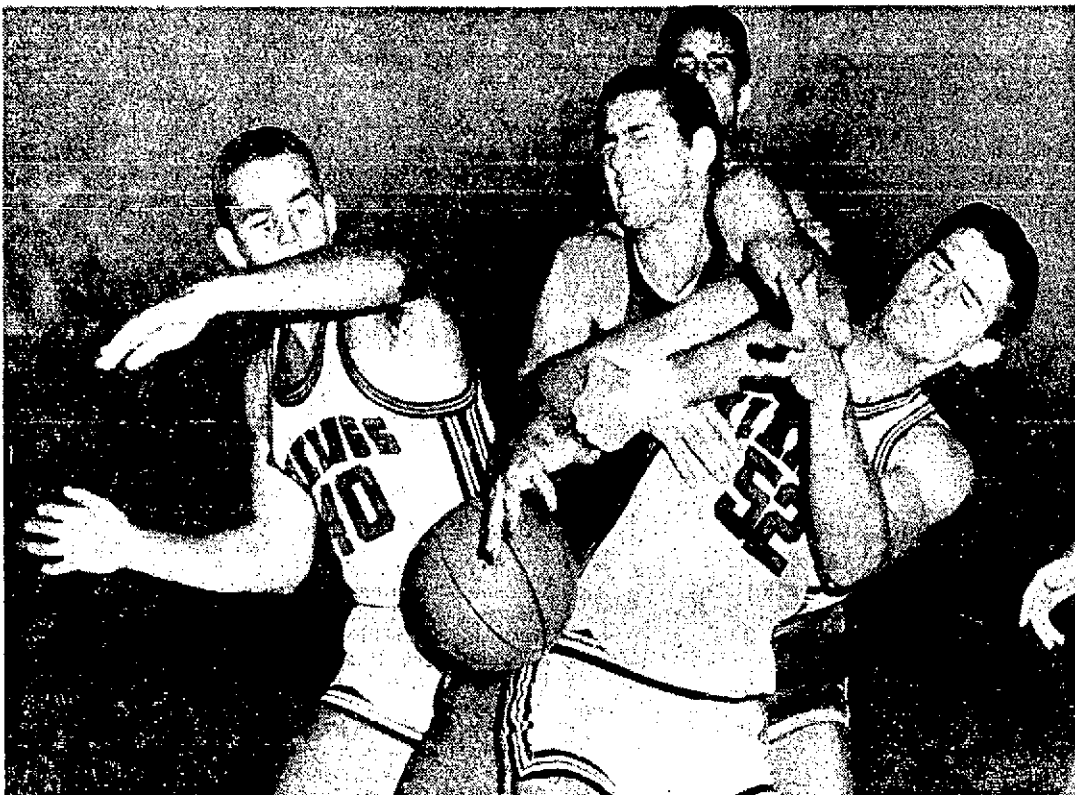

Sprinter Charlie Greene was snowbound in Lincoln, Nebr. Long jumper Bob Beamon was benched by a sprained thigh muscle, and pole vaulter Bob Seagren was another victim of the NCAA-AAU war.

Seagren was warned by USC athletic director Jess Hill that he would be declared ineligible for future competition at USC if he participated. The National Collegiate Athletic Assn. denied certification to the Invitational.

But the crowd had plenty to cheer about.

CALL OFF THE JAM

It appears above that Long Beach City College's Steve Bays (52) and Jon Borchert (40) are giving John Van Vliet of Cerritos the old Roller-

Derby elbow bit. The action above came in battle for ball as LBCC handed Cerritos only its second loss of the year, 79-67.

LBCC Trails by 16 Before Coming Back

By DAVE DANIEL

There's an old horse-racing adage that "Class will tell."

Apply it to Long Beach City College.

The Vikings threw the Metropolitan Conference basketball scene into a tighter-than-ever race with a convincing 79-67 win over No. 1 ranked defend-three points to move the Vikings away.

If an individual had to be singled out for his superb play, however, it would have to be 6-5 center Kirby Gordon, who shouldn't have even been in the game.

Gordon got only 5 points, almost 10 below his average, but pulled down 10 rebounds while jumping off legs he could hardly move due to an infection in his foot.

The win puts LBCC in a tie for second place with a 3-1 Metro mark and a 15-3 overall record. Cerritos is still the winningest school in the state with a 17-2 record, including its 3-1 Metro record.

state champion Cerritos College Saturday night.

Coach Rex Hughes can only hope that his team doesn't suffer a letdown tonight when the Vikings host El Camino College in the LBCC gym at 8.

LBCC appeared to be outclassed itself in the first half when Cerritos ran to a 16-point lead with only 5 minutes to play.

The Falcons were using their quick-driving guards, Tony Rodriguez and Chuck Beecher to score easy lay-ins until the Vikings battled back to close the gap to 42-40 at the half.

It was reserve guard Jim Ferguson who led the Viking comeback in the first half, hitting two quick buckets and passing off for two more to pull the Vikings close.

At the start of the second half, Cerritos scored three points by John Van Vliet to take a 5-point lead until Jon Borchert canned six points in a row from the left corner and Tom Motley put one in to give the Vikings the lead for the first time.

Chuck Terry added a pair of baskets and then Motley, who played one of his best games ever, got

U.S. Track Stars Eclipsed by Other Side of World

By RICH ROBERTS
Staff Writer

The United States, a nation of moon men, was caught in a track and field eclipse by the other side of the world Friday night.

While two of America's Olympic heroes were limited to bows and a couple of others almost forgot to show up, Australia's Ralph Doubell ran away with the loudest plaudits in the L.A. Invitational at the Sports Arena.

Not to mention a portable television set, a typewriter, a trophy and a smooch from meet Hostess Meredith Macrae, all for winning the 1,000-yard run from here to Sydney.

"I've had just about a week off since the Olympics," Doubell explained. "In Australia, it's our season. It's early for Americans, so I have a bit of advantage over them."

For that matter, Doubell's Aussie sidekick, Ron Clarke, feels nobody will touch the Olympic 800-meter champion and world record shareholder.

"He's such a beautiful indoor runner," said Clarke, who ran third to George Young in a slow two-mile. "He just glides around the bends. I slow down every time I come to one."

Bob Beamon, the meet's star attraction, slowed down to a stop without removing his sweatshirt.

VOTING ENDS TODAY FOR L.B.'S TOP STAR

Final ballot to determine Long Beach's most popular athlete of 1968 is printed today on page C-4. The athlete will be honored at Long Beach Century Club's 13th annual Sports Night banquet Thursday in the Lafayette Hotel.

Two Long Beach City College athletes, basketballer Sammy Washington and pitcher Darryl Thomas, are holding early leads.

The special ticket box for readers' convenience also will be run for the last time today. It appears on page C-4.

Tickets for the awards banquet still may be purchased at Captain's Inn, Apple Valley Steak House, Kenny's Sporting Goods, Pacific Coast Club and Azar Construction Co. (2725 E. 19th St.).

him into a tie for the lead had they dropped.

However, Palmer sank a pair of 12-footers as well as tough five and six-footers for birdies.

Bob Lunn, the first-round leader with a 65, fell off to a par 72 over the south course despite registering an eagle three on the par-five 18th hole with a 50-foot putt. Two bad tee shots cost him dearly as did a pair of three-foot putts he missed.

He still is tied for fourth at 138 along with Charles Coody.

Lee Trevino, Jacky Cup-

it and Gene Littler are among those at 139, four strokes back of the leader.

Billy Casper rallied after a bad front nine over the tough south course to post a one-under 71 and a 141 total, while defending champion Kermit Zarley had a 73 for 143.

A total of 92 golfers made the cut by shooting 145, one over par, or better. The leading casualty was Charlie Sifford, winner of the Los Angeles Open last week. Other notables were George Knudson, and Bruce NAPA—The older Miller Barber gets, the better he seems to play golf. "At least I'm earning more money," declares the bespectacled former University of Arkansas football player who quit the grid sport for the fairways.

It wasn't until his eighth year on the tour that Barber, who will be 38 in six weeks, was able to win as much as $40,000. Up to then it was a struggle to make both ends meet on the PGA.

Then in 1967, he parlayed a victory in the Oklahoma City Open into a $60,000 season, and last year became only the 17th man in golf history to win more than a hundred grand in one year, finishing ninth in the money standings with $105,845.

Starting his 11th year on the tour, Barber served warning Friday that 1969 may be his best season yet when he uncorked a five-under-par 67 to take the halfway lead in the $135,000 Kaiser International with a 36-hole total of 135.

Barber's 67 came over the north course at the Silverado Country Club after shooting a 68 over the south course on Thursday.

He holds a one-stroke lead over Australia's Bruce Devlin 136, who came up with one of the two 67s recorded over the south course Friday.

Resting ominously in third place at 137 just two strokes off the pace, is Arnold Palmer, who had a 68 over the north course. Arnie's putting, which has been very inconsistent this winter, started to come around Friday despite the fact he missed birdie putts of four and six feet on the 7th and 8th holes.

They would have lifted him into a tie for the lead had they dropped.

However, Palmer sank a pair of 12-footers as well as tough five and six-footers for birdies.

Bob Lunn, the first-round leader with a 65, fell off to a par 72 over the south course despite registering an eagle three on the par-five 18th hole with a 50-foot putt. Two bad tee shots cost him dearly as did a pair of three-foot putts he missed.

He still is tied for fourth at 138 along with Charles Coody.

Sports' Pressure Cooker: Fan Approval

NEW YORK (NEA) — It was recently reported that Vic Davalillo, California Angel outfielder, suffered a nervous breakdown while playing in the Venezuelan winter league. On the same day, another story included the fact that Tom Matte of the Baltimore Colts has ulcers.

We get a brief insight into an aspect of athletics that we (1) aren't aware of or (2) even if aware of, don't really give a damn about.

When athletes perform to our satisfaction, we applaud them. When they make mistakes, we boo. For all the "in-depth" feature articles, for all the "close-up" views by photo-journalism about athletes as human beings, we still view them as robots, effective or defective.

The pressures of winning or losing—even for a high-finance athlete—is not what mainly concerns that athlete. It is how the fans will react to his performance. And it is why—though only some will admit it—that superior athletes dislike intensely the general public.

MICKEY MANTLE
At Mercy of Fans

Dr. Bruce Ogilvie, psychologist at San Jose State College, has made a profound study of thousands of athletes. In fact, he is a consulting psychologist for a pro football team. He has some explanations for the psychological problems athletes have.

"Their lives," said Dr. Ogilvie, "are dependent on the approval of the public. And that approval, as they well know, is very fickle. The crowd can turn on an athlete in an instant, without any consideration for him as a person. The athlete might be in terrible pain, putting his guts on the line, but if he does not gain four yards, or trips coming off the starting block, he suffers from fan disapproval."

The truck driver or professor in the stands dreams, consciously or subconsciously, that he is Mickey Mantle swatting a home run or Gale Sayers dazzling defenders on a touchdown run. But he also, in some cases, wants to see athletes fail.

"Many, many people—we don't have figures of course—have antiheroes," said Dr. Ogilvie. "Fans come to see them fail. They make negative comparisons. They lay their responsibilities off on their antiheroes. If a star athlete muffs a play these fans delight in the fact that the star is no better than they."

"Star athletes must adjust to this, to be star athletes. They come to understand that fame does not make them any more loved. In fact, in all probability it will make them more prone to rejection."

"The pressure of success is incredible. That's why athletes often feel depression after a great performance. The joy for them is in the act of achieving. When it's over—like an author who has just finished writing a book—a dark mood sets in.

ROMAN GABRIEL
In Pressure Cooker

"People come to expect perfection from athletes but becoming a great anything does not prove anything about that person as a human being. It does not make one more worthwhile or more lovable or more virtuous or gives guarantees that one's children will love him more."

Dr. Ogilvie added, however, that top pro and Olympic athletes are usually at the top levels of emotional stability. And the sports world has fewer "neurotic hangups" than most other elements of society. Grand prix drivers in particular, he said, set emotional standards for society, along with astronauts.

Why don't top athletes have greater emotional problems? First, said Ogilvie, they are a highly-select group. They have been weeded out.

'Win or Else,' Cooke Tells Kings

COMPLY TWICE, ONE MORE TO GO

LOWELL MACDONALD
Play Pleases Coach

By RICH ROBERTS
Staff Writer

Jack Kent Cooke is out of town but his spirit remains.

When the Kings' and Lakers' owner headed East this week for the National Basketball Assn. All-Star Game, he left behind a quote to see the hockey team through the week:

"They're going to win three in a row . . . or else."

Coach Red Kelly, who sends his players after the third one against Pittsburgh at the Forum tonight at 8, was asked after the second one — Thursday's 3-2 win over Chicago — what Cooke meant by "or else."

"I couldn't tell you because he didn't tell me," Kelly replied testily. "I read it in the paper."

Now that Kelly and Cooke are communicating via the personal columns, it's questionable how hindering an order is. Chances are that Kelly will suggest his players follow through, anyway.

The Kings will try to wrap up a perfect week before the All-Star break.

The Penguins, the fifth-place club in the National Hockey League's West Division, aren't likely to inspire an opponent as do the Rangers or Black Hawks, but neither were the Kings until this week. In a way, that makes a team more dangerous.

"No letdown," promised defenseman Dale Rolfe, who grew up to his 6 feet, 4 inches against Chicago. "The boys realize that when they work hard, they get a reward."

The Kings' defense was so tough Thursday that goalie Gerry Desjardins said, "That was the best support I've seen this year."

Early in the game Desjardins was belted out of his crease by Chicago's Howie Young, who in his NHL past had been known to take a cheap shot now and then. But big Hank Cahan roared to the goalie's rescue, crushing Young into the net. Both Young and Cahan drew penalties, but the Kings had established some respect.

That pleased Kelly, and would have pleased Cooke immensely.

The coach also was delighted with the rejuvenated play of right wing Lowell MacDonal, who scored the tying goal while the Kings were shorthanded.

"Lowell played a tremendous game," Kelly said. "Since he's come back, all except one of his games has been great."

MacDonal, the Kings' third highest scorer last season, was playing so badly before Christmas that he was sent to Springfield. He balked at going, claiming he was ill,

Even Without Lew, Houston Magic Missing

Houston vs. UCLA.

A year ago, after Houston's 71-69 shocker in the Astrodome, it would have seemed like a rematch made in heaven.

How things have changed.

The Bruins can hardly restrain a yawn as they approach their 8:30 game tonight with Houston at Pauley Pavilion.

For one thing, UCLA already has exacted its pound of flesh with a 101-69 thrashing of the Cougars in the NCAA tournament last March.

Also, the Cougars have been beaten six times in 16 games, hardly a record to impress the Bruins, who haven't been defeated in the 27 games they've played since the Astrodome upset.

About the only remaining suspense is whether Lew Alcindor will be up to his usual effort after a bout with the flu.

If Alcindor is not prepared for a total game, UCLA coach John Wooden has a good replacement in 6-9 sophomore Steve Patterson.

The Cougars are still playing alphabet soup. They have replaced the Big E, Elvin Hayes, with the Little O, Ollie Taylor.

Taylor, a 6-2 forward, leads Houston in scoring with an 18-point average. He's a jumping jack, but hardly the powerful force that Hayes was.

"Houston has splendid personnel," said Wooden

Friday. "I think it's a team that just hasn't jelled."

UCLA's frosh and Los Angeles City College meet in a 6:15 prelim.

Vikes 5th in State Cage Poll

The Junior College Athletic Bureau threw a quick-pitch with its state basketball rankings this week and released its list Friday.

The JCAB, located in San Mateo, released the first state ratings Wednesday and doubled back with the second list in the same week.

Cerritos retained its No. 1 spot after a 3-0 Metropolitan Conference slate the first week while formerly No. 2 ranked Long Beach City College dropped to fifth after emerging with a 2-1 record.

The Vikings were beaten by Pasadena City College, which moved from No. 7 to No. 4, as CC San Francisco jumped into the No. 2 slot and Merced took over No. 3.

There are no undefeated teams in the state and Cerritos is the only school with one loss. No other teams have less than three defeats.

49ers Host St. Joseph's; Hope to Improve 'Image'

By JIM McCORMACK
Staff Writer

Although it does not affect the outcome of the California Collegiate Athletic Assn. title race, Cal State Long Beach's contest with visiting St. Joseph's of Indiana tonight should be placed in the "must win" category. Tonight's 8 o'clock encounter with the Pumas is a "prestige builder."

Cal State is listed as a university division basketball team and has only two avenues of post season play — the NCAA regionals and the National Invitational Tournament.

An invitation to either is highly unlikely, unless the 49ers begin to receive more recognition.

As a matter of fact, in recent weeks the 49ers' status has been slipping.

Two weeks into the season, the 49ers (3-0) were ranked fifth in the nation by United Press International's panel of sportswriters. They were not mentioned by the coaches.

Now, five weeks later, the 49ers are 15-1 on the season but now stand 12th among the writers' selections and 16th among the coaches' rankings for Associated Press.

On that basis, tonight's encounter with St. Joseph's and Feb. 1 and Feb. 28 meetings with the University of Nevada at Las Vegas, stand as three of the more important contests on Cal State's calendar.

The University of Nevada — Nevada Southern until a week ago, is ranked as the nation's No. 2 team in the coaches' college division poll.

Victories over the Rebels Feb. 1 in Las Vegas and Feb. 28 in Long Beach would greatly enhance State's image.

Time, however, is quickly becoming a determining factor, and State's contest tonight could be as important as the pair with the Rebels.

St. Joseph's is not ranked in either poll, but the Pumas bowed to sixth-ranked Evansville, 74-72, earlier this year.

A Cal State triumph tonight would at least allow Midwestern and Eastern voters a comparison.

"We need more recognition," 49er coach Jerry Tarkenton admits. "It is going to be difficult to get an invitation to the NIT or the regionals if people don't know about us."

An impressive showing against the Pumas would at least get the word back to the Midwest that the 49ers are for real.

A victory tonight would also give the 49ers an official 10 wins in a row, a school record.

Counting a triumph over Athletics in Action, the 49ers already have the record. The NCAA, however, does not recognize the Athletics as a sanctioned team.

There will be no frosh prelim tonight.

FANFARE

Dennis Putman reeled off a 50.1 clocking in the 100 yard freestyle Friday to pace Cal State Long Beach to a 75-38 CCAA swimming victory over Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo.

Julio Arango, a transfer from Colombia, South America, won the 200 freestyle with a 1:50.5 time while diver George Easton captured both the 1-meter and 3-meter events.

Cal State travels to UC Santa Barbara today for a non-league clash with the Gauchos.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Vince Lombardi is looking for new fields to conquer — and from indications he wouldn't mind switching to baseball.

"I'd consider taking the job of baseball commissioner if it were offered to me," said Lombardi Friday.

"I think I would have to listen to an offer. I'm a football man, certainly. But if they thought enough of me to ask, I'd owe it to them to listen. I'd owe it to myself to listen," finalized Lombardi, who is currently general manager of the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League.

PROFESSIONAL Rod Laver, No. 1 seed in the New South Wales Open Tennis championships, took only 86 minutes to defeat John Newcombe 6-1, 6-3, 7-5 Friday night and move into the men's singles final.

Americans Billie Jean King and Rosemary Casals overcame a shaky start to beat Australians Karen Krantzke and Kerry Melville 2-6, 6-2, 7-5 and advance to the women's doubles final.

EAST COACH Wally Lemm revealed Friday that Joe Namath was having trouble with his knee again and that there was some doubt about how much the New York Jets' quarterback would play in Sunday's AFL All-Star game.

"Joe's not a grumbler, so he wouldn't say anything about it," said Lemm. "But I noticed that when he went back to throw, he wasn't putting his weight on his knee, he was throwing strictly with his arm."

CASEY STENGEL, 78-year-old former New York Yankee and Met manager, is "feeling good and is eager to move around" in his recovery from a perforated peptic ulcer operation at Glendale Memorial Hospital.

CANADIAN officials blasted the Soviet Union's National hockey team for playing politics with a projected eight-game Canadian tour and indefinitely banned the Russians from playing in Montreal.

Peggy Wilson Nets 67 for Four-Stroke Lead

MIAMI (AP) — Peggy Wilson fired a sizzling five-under par 67 Friday to forge a four-stroke lead in the first round of the $35,000 Burdine's Invitational, richest women's golf tournament ever.

Cynthia Hill, a University of Miami junior, fired a hole-in-one, but ended the day in a four-way tie for second.

Miss Wilson, from Boca Raton, Fla., carded a 35-32 despite strong winds on the 6,434 yard, par 36-36 Country Club of Miami course.

Miss Wilson, the No. 21 money winner on the ladies golf tour last season with more than $10,000, stacked six birdies against two bogeys to begin her drive for the $5,200 first prize. The 67 was Miss Wilson's best score ever.
